About Prop Store

rop Store was founded on the belief that the props and costumes used D in movies are pieces of art—film art. We see these artifacts not as mere byproducts of the production process, but as unique, creative works in their own right. The result of the collective effort of designers, fabricators, and artisans from every corner of the globe, many of these pieces are simply extraordinary.

Private collectors have played a significant role in preserving these film art pieces since the earliest days of cinema and television. Throughout the entertainment industry's history, these items were considered as mere production tools and were therefore commonly discarded time and time again. Private collectors have stepped in on many occasions and taken preservation into their own hands. Some film and television artifact collecting stories are legendary: A college student walking through a field and stumbling upon the model miniature space station from 2001: A Space Odyssey after the item was dumped from an unpaid storage locker, for example. Many of cinema's most memorable treasures are cared for by private collectors, and we believe that private collectors continue to play a critical role in the overall preservation and legacy of film and television history. Collecting is a very personal thing as all collectors have different tastes-but collectors are united through a common passion for the material and its preservation.

Each of Prop Store's team members share this belief and are longtime, passionate collectors themselves. We love this material. We revere this material. Our enthusiasm is the driving force in our nearly two decade global search to locate these culturally-significant items. Our journey has enabled us to forge key relationships within the industry that have provided access to material previously believed to be unavailable. We are also in continuous contact with those on the front lines of production. These individuals educate us and assist us in properly identifying and authenticating material. In turn, we have educated and supported the collecting community by sharing our knowledge through articles, videos and collecting websites and forums.

We are excited to share this catalogue with collectors around the world. Within this sale you will find pieces available at every price point-all of which are authenticated and certified with our industry-leading certificate of authenticity and its accompanying guarantee. Each of these pieces satisfy our strict internal authentication standards.

We strive to present these pieces with the same level of care that went into their presentation on screen, as they deserve nothing less. A large portion of the artifact collection will be on public exhibition prior to the sale, providing a first-hand view of the material. Whether you are a veteran collector or just getting started, we hope that you find pieces that speak to you amongst this truly unique offering. To make this material more accessible, every item can be purchased on an interest-free payment plan. We can also pack and ship material safely to any destination in the world.

Our experience, passion and desire to source the most exciting pieces possible makes us one of the world's leading vendors of original props, costumes and collectable memorabilia. We look forward to being a part of your own collecting journey and to helping you preserve these beloved pieces of film and television history.

The Prop Store Certificate of Authenticity

Authenticity is the defining collectable element for original film and television props and costumes. All of our certificates carry multiple security elements to verify authenticity, representing a lifetime guarantee that the item is a genuine piece of cinema history exactly as described. ## 20. Rick Baker-created Screen-matched Mutant Nazi Warmonger Mask and Helmet $\uparrow \Delta$

AN AMERICAN WEREWOLF IN LONDON (1981)

A mutant Nazi Warmonger mask and helmet from John Landis' horror comedy An American Werewolf in London. A group of mutant Nazis appeared in David Kessler's (David Naughton) final dream, which he experienced while recovering in hospital. Four mutant Nazis broke into his family home and slaughtered his father, mother, niece and nephew, before finally slitting his throat. The paint finish and markings on the right side of the helmet screen-match to the scene where the dream continued, and David witnessed the Warmonger Nazi stabbing Nurse Price (Jenny Agutter).

All of the film's innovative make-up and special effects were created by renowned special effects artist Rick Baker, who won the first-ever Academy Award® for Best Make-up and Hairstyling for his work on this production. Baker went on to win the award seven times throughout his career. Included in the lot is a letter of authenticity from Rick Baker himself.

This slip latex mask has been expertly hand-painted in shades of brown. It features a pair of menacing yellow eyes and an open mouth, which displays a set of discoloured teeth. It is accompanied by a fibreglass German helmet, which is intentionally distressed with holes and scuffs. Originally, all four mutants were going to wear helmets, but the Warmonger was the only character to wear one on screen.

There is a slit down the back of the mask for easy access, and the lot displays some minor signs of age, including light paint wear and flaking latex. The lot is presented on a custom-made display, with the production title decorating the front of the base. Powered by eight AA batteries, the title illuminates via a switch situated at the back of the base. Dimensions (displayed): 28 cm x 26 cm x 53 cm (11" x 10  $\frac{14"}{x} \times 20 \frac{34"}{y}$ )

Contains electronics; see electronics notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £40,000 - 60,000

21. Chick's (Will Patton) Light-up Hero Spacesuit Ω

ARMAGEDDON (1998)

Chick's (Will Patton) light-up hero spacesuit from Michael Bay's sci-fi adventure Armageddon. Chick wore his spacesuit as he, Harry Stamper (Bruce Willis) and the crew of the Freedom planted a nuclear bomb on the surface of an asteroid to prevent it from destroying the Earth.

Constructed primarily from a heavy-weave, nylon-like material, the costume comprises a grey fibreglass helmet featuring a wide acrylic visor; a metal-and-resin collar; a front-andback pack; a long-sleeved top and a pair of trousers that connect via a zip around the waist; a pair of gloves with metal locking rings; a utility belt; and a pair of modified Vans boots covered in dress-up components (labelled "Chick, Size 10  $^{1\!/_2}$  ").

Most of the pieces have the character name "Chick" handwritten on the interior, and the suit features highly detailed metal, plastic and resin adornments. The backpack is marked "Ballast" and "Harry", suggesting that it belonged to Willis' character.

Powered by an elaborate battery system, electronic components are fitted within the helmet, chest and backpack, allowing them to illuminate with multiple LEDs. Demisting fans are housed inside the pack, linking to the helmet to supply the wearer with plenty of air and ventilation while performing on set. The electronics can be powered by a  $12\mathrm{V}$ power supply, which is not included in the lot. The costume was intentionally distressed for production, and the gloves remain in a fragile condition.

Contains electronics; see electronics notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £10,000 - 15,000

23. John Steed's (Patrick Macnee) Series 5 Grey Bowler Hat м

THE AVENGERS (TV SERIES, 1961-1969)

John Steed's (Patrick Macnee) grey bowler hat from the British spy-fi television series The Avengers. The bowler hat was part of Steed's trademark costume and served as one of his favourite weapons. He wore different coloured versions throughout the show, and donned a grey hat during multiple episodes of the fifth series. This hat was originally gifted by Macnee to his chauffeur.

Created by Herbert Johnson hatters, the bowler hat is made of pale grey felt and features a black ribbon. The interior displays a silk lining, with a leather sweatband imprinted with the Herbert Johnson name, and the hat is marked as a size 7 1/8 (size 56 European). The hat has become discoloured over time and exhibits light wear around the rim and a small stain on the lining. The lot includes a letter of authenticity from a family member of the original owner. #### 30. BAFTA Collection: Lindy Hemming Hand-painted Costume Design for Wonder Woman's (Gal Gadot) Schloss Party Dress †

WONDER WOMAN (2017)

A hand-painted and drawn costume design for Wonder Woman's (Gal Gadot) Schloss party dress from the production of Patty Jenkins' superhero film Wonder Woman. Wonder Woman wore her blue-coloured Grecianstyle dress when she entered the gala, and the dress eventually fell away to reveal her armour, as she rode away from the event on a horse.

This design was created by Academy Award®-winning costume designer Lindy Hemming. It comprises a front and rear view of the costume, with the latter showing Wonder Woman's sword tucked into the back of her dress. The artwork is rendered in watercolour, coloured pencil and pencil, and features detailed annotations. Hemming has signed it on the right side, and the production title and actress' name are written along the top. Displaying minimal wear, the lot is accompanied by a handwritten letter of authenticity from Hemming. Dimensions: 42 cm x 30 cm (16  $\frac{1}{2}$  x 11  $\frac{3}{4}$ ")

33. Joker's (Jack Nicholson) Neck Tie $\frac{1}{2}\Delta$

BATMAN (1989)

Joker's (Jack Nicholson) neck tie from Tim Burton's superhero film Batman. The Joker first wore his spotted tie during the Gotham street parade and continued to wear it until his climactic showdown with Batman (Michael Keaton) and Vicki Vale (Kim Basinger) atop Gotham City Cathedral.

Created by Academy Award®-nominated costume designer Bob Ringwood, the Joker's costumes were designed to express the character's mindset, and Ringwood used vibrant colours to represent his descent into madness. The teal-coloured silk-like tie features a large dotted pattern and is knotted in a loose bow. There are remnants of stage blood still present from the fight with the Caped Crusader, and the tie displays light plucks from production use.

Estimate: £4,000 - 6,000

37. Alfred's (Michael Gough) Glasses м

BATMAN (1989)

Alfred's (Michael Gough) glasses from Tim Burton's superhero film Batman. Bruce Wayne's (Michael Keaton) trusted butler Alfred wore his glasses throughout the movie as he assisted Wayne in his mission to stop the Joker (Jack Nicholson) from terrorising Gotham.

The glasses comprise a plastic tortoiseshell frame with round non-prescription lenses. They feature a thick bridge across the nose, and each of the glasses' arms has a small rivet. There are some signs of production use, including light scratching and marks on the lenses, and the arms are slightly warped outwards from being stretched when worn. Dimensions: 13 cm x 14 cm x 4 cm (5  $\frac{14^{\circ}}{x} \times 5\frac{12^{\circ}}{x} \times 1\frac{12^{\circ}}{x}$ )

Estimate: £1,500 - 2,500

38. Tim Burton's Panavision Director's Viewfinder M

VARIOUS PRODUCTIONS

Tim Burton's Panavision director's viewfinder from the productions of several of his movies. Director's viewfinders allow the director and cinematographer to frame shots accordingly without the need for a camera. This lot originally came from the personal collection of renowned actress Helena Bonham Carter.

The viewfinder features Burton's name and a list of 10 of his productions on which he used the viewfinder - including Beetlejuice, Batman, Edward Scissorhands, and Batman Returns - engraved on the side, and has a black woven cord so it can be worn around the neck. It is accompanied by a behind-the-scenes still from Burton's 1984 short film Frankenweenie, which features the director wearing a very similar viewfinder around his neck, alongside actors Shelley Duvall, Daniel Stern and Barret Oliver.

Also included in the lot is Tim Burton's all-access pass to "Danny Elfman's Music from the Films of Tim Burton", performed at the Royal Albert Hall in 2013. "Tim" is handwritten in marker pen on the back of the pass. Dimensions (viewfinder): 15 cm x 7 cm x 7 cm (6" x 2  $\frac{3}{4}$ " x 2  $\frac{3}{4}$ ")

39. Production-Made Batman (Michael Keaton) Chest Emblem $\Omega$

BATMAN RETURNS (1992)

A production-made Batman (Michael Keaton) chest emblem from Tim Burton's superhero sequel Batman Returns. Batman's signature chest insignia was a prominent part of his updated costume throughout the film.

This black and yellow urethane emblem is an unused extra made by production in case of damage, as Batman's chest emblems were known to break on impact. Its back is unpainted and labeled "B" in marker on a piece of tape. Also included is a Letter of Authenticity from a licencing liaison between the production and Warner Bros. Consumer Products/DC Movies. The emblem exhibits minor scratches and discolouration to the black urethane. Dimensions: 15.25 cm x 15.25 cm x 5 cm (6" x 6" x 2")

Estimate: £1,500 - 2,500

40. Oswald Cobblepot's (Danny DeVito) Remote Control Device, Campaign Buttons, Face Appliance, and Newspaper Ω

BATMAN RETURNS (1992)

Oswald Cobblepot's (Danny DeVito) remote control device, campaign buttons, face appliance, and newspaper from Tim Burton's superhero sequel Batman Returns. Misshapen mayoral candidate Cobblepot - also known as Penguin - and his election team wore campaign buttons. Later, Cobblepot used a remote device to gain control of the Batmobile while Batman (Michael Keaton) was driving.

This lot consists of a transparent facial form affixed with a flesh-colour latex nose and forehead facial appliance; a red and white spherical resin and metal control device; a black and white newspaper with a production-made cover featuring The Penguin; and three plastic and metal campaign buttons. Items exhibit signs of wear from age and use including extensive damage to the remote device, cracking on the facial appliance, and yellowing of the paper. Dimensions: 35.5 cm x 30.5 cm x 12.75 cm (14" x 12" x 5")

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

41. Rocket Penguin †

BATMAN RETURNS (1992)

A rocket penguin from Tim Burton's superhero sequel Batman Returns. The Penguin (Danny DeVito) delivered his inspirational speech to a crowd of rocket-clad penguins, and models were used to fill out the group of live birds, many of whom wouldn't stay still for the duration of the sequence.

Crafted from rubber with an internal armature, the model penguin wears a silver-painted helmet and harness. A red-and-white candy-striped resin rocket is attached to its back, and three miniature resin rockets are adhered to each wing. The missiles on the penguin are fragile, and the model displays glue remnants down the back and paint wear. It has received minor sympathetic restoration on its left wing. Dimensions: 14 cm x 17 cm x 32 cm (5 1/2" x 6 <sup>3</sup>⁄<sub>4</sub>" x 12 <sup>1</sup>⁄<sub>2</sub>")

42. Batman's (Val Kilmer) Sonar Batsuit Display м

BATMAN FOREVER (1995)

Batman's (Val Kilmer) sonar Batsuit display from Joel Schumacher's superhero sequel Batman Forever. Batman wore his newly designed sonar suit when he and Robin (Chris O'Donnell) faced The Riddler (Jim Carrey) and Two-Face (Tommy Lee Jones) at the climax of the film.

The Batsuit consists of a cast foam-rubber cowl; a voluminous black latex-coated fabric cape; moulded foam-rubber armour adhered to a thin neoprene suit; and a pair of leather boots with rubber detailing. Completing the costume is a pair of gauntlets, each featuring three resin fins, and a black polyurethane utility belt, which was worn as part of the "Panther suit", the movie's main Batsuit.

The cowl displays various sculpted insets, including diagonal striping beneath the long ears, and there are three patches of Velcro around its bottom edge. A pair of ridged resin faux clasps are affixed via Velcro to each shoulder; these are replicas which have been added to complete the display. As the sonar suit was the first in the series to not feature the typical ellipse-shaped Batman chest emblem, this costume bears an elongated version of the iconic logo. The suit also features padded muscular detailing, a moulded codpiece and a zip fastening which runs down its back.

Presented on a custom-built display, the Batsuit exhibits cracking on the foam rubber, glue remnants and wear to the latex coating on the cape, and there are signs of repair present on the cowl's left side. The lot remains in overall excellent condition considering its age. Dimensions (display): 40 cm x 65 cm x 198 cm (15  $\frac{3}{4}$ " x 25  $\frac{1}{2}$ " x 78")

Special shipping required; see special shipping notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £40,000 - 60,000

43. Riddler (Jim Carrey) Functioning Bat Bomb †

BATMAN FOREVER (1995)

A Riddler (Jim Carrey) functioning bat bomb from Joel Schumacher's superhero sequel Batman Forever. The Riddler used bat bombs to destroy the Bat Cave when he broke into Wayne Manor on Halloween night with Two-Face (Tommy Lee Jones).

The green-coloured resin bomb consists of a small head, a larger body decorated with a black question mark emblem and two wings. Powered by two LR1 batteries, a small motor within the body causes the wings to flap when the head is twisted into an upright position. The lot displays minor wear and comes with a custom display. Dimensions (bomb): 8.5 cm x 19 cm x 6.5 cm (3 ¼" x 7 ½" x 2 ½"); (display): 12 cm x 24.5 cm x 24.5 cm (4 <sup>3</sup>⁄<sub>4</sub>" x 9 <sup>1</sup>⁄<sub>2</sub>" x 9 <sup>1</sup>⁄<sub>2</sub>")

Contains electronics and mechanical components; see notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £4,000 - 6,000

44. Riddler's (Jim Carrey) Cane м

BATMAN FOREVER (1995)

The Riddler's (Jim Carrey) cane from Joel Schumacher's superhero sequel Batman Forever. The Riddler twirled his iconic question-mark cane throughout the film, from the moment he teamed up with Two-Face (Tommy Lee Jones) to the sequence where he destroyed the Batcave, using the cane as a remote trigger for his powerful bombs.

Costume designers Bob Ringwood and Ingrid Ferrin drew inspiration from the original Dick Sprang comic artwork of the character, as well as the attire worn by Frank Gorshin as the Riddler in the 1960s Batman TV series. They added the question-mark cane, which would become a fixture in comic-book depictions of The Riddler soon after.

The gold-coloured cane is made of foam rubber with a metal core. It features the Riddler's signature question mark symbol as a handle, and a spiral pattern along its shaft. There are signs of wear to the gold finish and cracking, notably on the handle. The lot is accompanied by a Warner Bros. Pictures certificate of authenticity. Dimensions: 96 cm x 19 cm x 5 cm (37 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 7 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>" x 2")

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

BATMAN FOREVER (1995)

Robin's (Chris O'Donnell) mask from Joel Schumacher's superhero sequel Batman Forever. (Val Kilmer) as his sidekick Robin, with a mask and suit designed by Alfred Pennyworth (Michael Gough).

The black eye mask is made of rubber and features Robin's "R" insignia at the centre of After Two-Face (Tommy Lee Jones) murdered his family, Dick Grayson joined Batman the brow. There is a minor crack present on the right side of the mask and visible glue remnants on the back, from where it was applied to O'Donnell's face. Dimensions: 9 cm x 16 cm x 7.5 cm (3 ½" x 6 ¼" x 3") included. Wheems (also known as "Little Guy") and his family of extraterrestrial, sentient spaceships arrived on Earth to help the tenants of a destitute apartment complex. This puppet was created by Industrial Light & Magic (ILM), and several veteran ILM artists, including Ralph McQuarrie and Paul Huston, contributed to the design of the robots, case. Dimensions (display): 13.5 cm x 13.5 cm x 26.5 cm (5 1/4" x 5 1/4" x 10 1/4") dubbed "Fix-Its" in the movie.

BATTERIES NOT INCLUDED (1987)

The puppet is constructed from resin, and is hand-painted with Wheems' signature patchwork of metallic gold, blue and copper, as well as stencilled lettering and barcodes.

A Wheems rod-puppet model from Matthew Robbins' sci-fi comedy *batteries not A switch on the back and the presence of screws on the underside imply that the eyes illuminate as seen in the film, although this has not been tested. A puppetry rod is attached to each leg, around which are coiled lengths of thin wire believed to be electronic wires to power the eyes. The robot sits atop a clear acrylic rod inside a cylindrical acrylic display

Estimate: £12,000 - 16,000

47. Ralph McQuarrie-designed and Signed Prototype "Fix-It" Model Ω

BATTERIES NOT INCLUDED (1987)

A prototype "Fix It" model robot, signed by Ralph McQuarrie, from the production of Matthew Robbins' sci-fi comedy *batteries not included. The tenants of a condemned apartment complex were visited by a family of extraterrestrial, sentient spaceships, who helped save their block from demolition. Veteran concept artist McQuarrie created this model as part of his extensive design work for the spaceships. It most closely resembles Wheems, one of the three juvenile robots featured in the movie.

Constructed from biscuit foam with a resin skin, the grey-and-metallic-blue-painted robot features the letters "R.M.Q" in black paint. This is McQuarrie's signature, making this piece one of only a very few non-painting McQuarrie artworks known to exist. A small brass rod slots into the bottom of the model, mounting it on a circular wooden base for display purposes. It exhibits some small scratches and dents from age. Dimensions: 12 cm x 9 cm x 26 cm (4 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 3 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>" x 10 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

Estimate: £5,000 - 7,000

48. Blade's (Wesley Snipes) SFX Daywalker Sword Ω

BLADE (1998)

Blade's (Wesley Snipes) SFX Daywalker sword from Stephen Norrington's action horror Blade. Blade carried his sword in multiple scenes throughout the film and wielded it as he battled Deacon Frost (Stephen Dorff), after Frost became the avatar of the supreme blood god La Magra. This version was used for scenes where the weapon was required to spark during combat stunt sequences.

The sword has a thin, polished aluminium blade with fuller detailing running down its length. Finished in black and faux-silver paint, the grip is rounded on one side and flat on the other, and is decorated with ornate vampiric glyphs and ribbed detailing. There are signs of corrosion and burn marks on the blade from production use, and the lot is accompanied by a letter of authenticity from a crew member. Dimensions: 89  $\mbox{cm}\,x\,5\,\mbox{cm}$ x 4.5 cm (35" x 2" x 1 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

49. Blade's (Wesley Snipes) Stunt Heckler & Koch USP Match Pistols Ω

BLADE II (2002)

Blade's (Wesley Snipes) stunt Heckler & Koch USP Match pistols from Guillermo del Toro's action-horror sequel Blade II. Blade wielded his pistols throughout the film, notably holding both of them in the sewers after he detonated the UV bombs to destroy the swarming Reapers.

Made of dense rubber, both firearms are modified versions of Heckler & Koch USP Match pistols. Each has a rail-like attachment near the front, which is finished in silver-coloured paint to replicate aluminium. The make and model of each gun is engraved on its textured grip, and a faux laser pointer and light are fitted below the barrel on both pistols. The weapons exhibit light wear from production use, and there is a crack on one of the triggers. Dimensions (each pistol): 24 cm x 3.5 cm x 13.5 cm (9 ½" x 1 ¼" x 5 ¼")

Restricted ownership; see replica firearm notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

50. Blade's (Wesley Snipes) Hero and Stunt Glaives м

BLADE II (2002)

A pair of Blade's (Wesley Snipes) glaives from Guillermo del Toro's action-thriller sequel Blade II. The Daywalker Blade notably used his glaives at the beginning of the film as he chased a group of vampires in the Czech Republic and found where Whistler (Kris Kristofferson) was imprisoned.

The lot comprises a hero and stunt version of the weapon. Each features a central emblem and a pair of curved blades with partly serrated edges. Made of polished metal, the hero version contains a locking mechanism that, when pressed, allows one of the blades to fold inwards. The stunt glaive is made of dense rubber, finished in silver paint to replicate the appearance of metal. The lot displays minor scratching and marks, with paint wear and cracking to the stunt glaive's paint finish. Dimensions (both versions): 25 cm x 20 cm x 3 cm (9 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 7 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 1<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

Estimate: £2,000 - 3,000

51. Blade's (Wesley Snipes) Costume Ω

BLADE: TRINITY (2004)

Trinity. A vampire born with the ability to walk in the sunlight, Blade wore his costume as he teamed with a group known as the Nightstalkers to battle a resurrected Dracula (Dominic Purcell) and his murderous army of the night.

This costume consists of a dark red long-sleeved bodysuit; a black zippered leatherette neoprene gloves; and a pair of black trousers marked "WES" in the interior. It exhibits signs of wear from age and use throughout all items.

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

53. Rick Deckard's (Harrison Ford) Photo-matched Shirt us

BLADE RUNNER (1982)

Rick Deckard's (Harrison Ford) photo-matched shirt from Ridley Scott's sci-fi classic Blade Runner. Deckard wore his shirt while tracking, confronting, and "retiring" Zhora (Joanna Cassidy), changing out of it after Rachael (Sean Young) saved him from Leon Kowalski (Brion James). The placement of the patterned fabric, specifically on the collar and chest of the shirt, matches publicity photos from the promotion of the film.

The red and green cotton-blend shirt features two front pockets, shiny red plastic buttons, and strips of patterned fabric sewn onto the collar, chest, back, shoulders, and arms. The buttons are original. Also included is a paper tag reading "Harrison Ford Blade Runner 1981 Michael Kaplan". The shirt exhibits some wear from production and age, including fading, small stains, green paint spatter on the right sleeve, and missing buttons on the collar and left cuff.

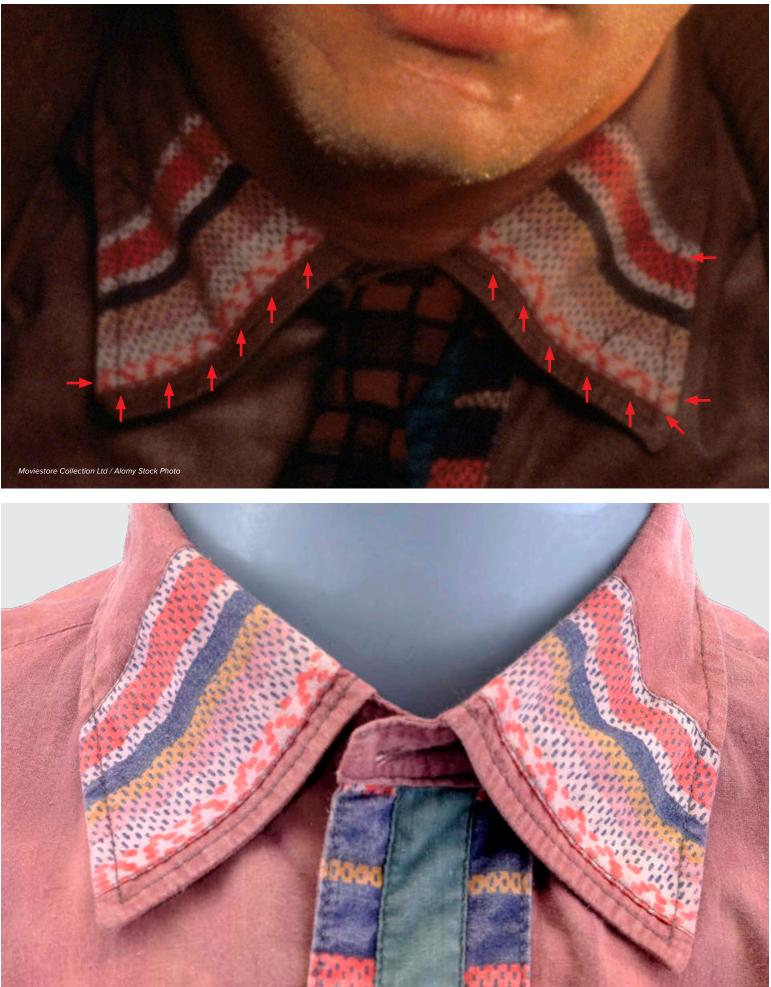

This lot will ship from Prop Store's Los Angeles facility; see notice in the Buyer's Guide

54. Eli's (Denzel Washington) Screen-matched Hero Bible and Autographed Photo M

THE BOOK OF ELI (2010)

Eli's (Denzel Washington) screen-matched hero Bible and an autographed photo from The Hughes Brothers' post-apocalyptic action film The Book of Eli. Eli carried his Bible throughout the film. The book was coveted by Carnegie (Gary Oldman), who discovered it was written entirely in braille at the end of the film. The Bible screen-matches the book in this scene through the way the edges of the pages are curled, creased and damaged.

The leather-bound Bible features a metal lock that no longer functions and its text is entirely in braille. It has been intentionally distressed to appear old and well-used.

It is accompanied by a printed still from the film, which is autographed by Washington in black pen and held in a protective sleeve. The Bible has some additional wear from production use, including dried glue on the inside of the metal clasp. #### 69. Riddick's (Vin Diesel) Necromonger Armour Ω

THE CHRONICLES OF RIDDICK (2004)

Riddick's (Vin Diesel) Necromonger armour from David Twohy sci-fi action sequel The Chronicles of Riddick. Riddick disguised himself in Necromonger armour to sneak aboard the Necromonger flagship and attempt to kill the Lord Marshal (Colm Feore).

The costume consists of a black vest top; a pair of brown, combat-style trousers (labelled "Vin 2"); a belt; torso armour (labelled "L Captain Riddick Ph. 061 "Full Armour""); pauldrons (each labelled "Riddick 2"); a pair of gloves (the right one labelled "Vin #3"); a pair of shin guards (labelled "L" and "R"); a left arm guard; a pair of leather boots (US size 10.5); and a helmet (labelled "Vin #3). The armour is predominantly made of hard rubber, and the helmet is fibreglass. The armour has been hand-painted to look like metal, and the costume is intentionally distressed to appear well worn. The costume only has minor wear from production use and age, including some scuffing to the paintwork.

Estimate: £4,000 - 6,000

70. Lord Marshal's (Colm Feore) Costume Ω

THE CHRONICLES OF RIDDICK (2004)

Lord Marshal's (Colm Feore) costume from David Twohy's sci-fi action sequel The Chronicles of Riddick. The leader of the Necromongers wore his armour as he commanded his army in their crusade against the "breeders".

The armour consists of an ornate fibreglass helmet featuring a grimacing face on its front and sides; a hero metal chainmail cowl; rubber torso armour with a rubber scale-patterned cape fastened at the back and two shoulder pauldrons featuring faces moulded into a mournful rictus; a black nylon bodysuit with built-in rubber thigh armour plating (labelled "L.M."); a pair of rerebraces that connect to a pair of elbow cops (labelled "L" and "R"); a pair of leather gloves (labelled "Colm Feore") with metal gauntlets; a belt and codpiece with plastic clip fastenings; a pair of plastic greaves; and a pair of leather boots (labelled "Lord M").

The helmet and chest plate are prototypes finished in paint from the production and differ to those seen on screen; the back plate, right pauldron, and neckpiece are repainted unused stunt pieces; the cape is from a Necromonger Captain; and the codpiece is from a Necromonger Elite Guard.

The armour is painted dark grey with gold-and-silver-coloured accents throughout. The armour shows paint wear throughout and a minor crack on the back of the helmet rim.

CLASH OF THE TITANS (2010)

Perseus' (Sam Worthington) SFX arm and hero sword from Louis Leterrier's fantasyadventure remake Clash of the Titans. Perseus used his sword in several scenes throughout the film, and this special effects arm and sword were created for the scene in which Perseus stabbed a giant Scorpion to death.

The lot comprises a realistically detailed silicone arm holding a cast bronze hero sword. The sword features a round guard with a three-headed serpent Argos insignia on both sides, a grip featuring several intricate cutouts, and a fishtail pommel.

A metal rod is inserted through the piece and is attached to the sword's grip. The silicone on the arm has become slightly sticky over time and displays dirt remnants. There are signs of wear from production use, including paint wear and scratching on the blade, and corrosion on the metal rod. Dimensions: 122 cm x 14 cm x 9 cm (48" x 5  $\frac{1}{2}$ " x 3  $\frac{1}{2}$ ")

Estimate: £6,000 - 8,000

81. Full-size Santi Figure $\Omega$

THE DEVIL'S BACKBONE (2001)

A full-size figure of Santi from Guillermo del Toro's gothic horror The Devil's Backbone. Carlos (Fernando Tielve) encountered the ghostly apparition of Santi (Junio Valverde) several times at the orphanage and discovered the tragic events that led to Santi's mysterious disappearance.

This figure was created by DDT, the Spanish studio behind the make-up and special effects for the film, founded by Academy Award®-winners David Martí and Montse Ribé. This model is a reproduction of the one created at the behest of del Toro for the 2016 exhibition "Guillermo del Toro: At Home with Monsters" and displayed at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art. Del Toro owns the original model from the exhibition.

Santi's pale skin is decorated with detailed cracking, notably on the head. Red-coloured cotton wool-like material - representing the blood always seen floating upwards from his head wound - is inserted into a slot on the head's temple. The figure is dressed in a brown natural hair wig; a diamond-patterned knitted vest; a heavily stained shirt; and a pair of brown textured shorts. The clothing is intentionally distressed, adding to the figure's creepy aesthetic, and the statue exhibits minimal signs of wear. # 85. Colin Maitland's Personal Annotated Shooting Script ${\ensuremath{\mathsf{M}}}$

THE DIRTY DOZEN (1967)

Colin Maitland's personal annotated shooting script from Robert Aldrich's war movie The Dirty Dozen. Maitland played convict Seth Sawyer, one of the titular Dozen sent on a suicide mission into France during World War II.

The script – credited to Nunally Johnson and Lukas Heller – is bound in a red leather hardback covering, with the film's title and "Colin Maitland as 'Sawyer'" debossed in gold text on the cover. The script is printed on different coloured pages, indicating different revisions, and many of the pages have been hand-annotated. This script was also used on-screen in a retrospective feature starring Maitland and his fellow cast, for the 2017 special edition DVD. The script is accompanied by a signed letter of authenticity from Maitland, and has some wear from production use and age, including creasing, minor tears and scuffing to the cover. Dimensions: 29 cm x 24 cm x 4 cm ( $11 \frac{1}{2}$ " x 9  $\frac{1}{2}$ " x 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ ")

86. Alexander Grayson's (Jonathan Rhys Meyers) Fight Costume and Stunt Sword μ

DRACULA (TV SERIES, 2013-2014)

Alexander Grayson's (Jonathan Rhys Meyers) fight costume and stunt sword from horrordrama TV series Dracula. Grayson wore his costume when he fought vampire hunter Hermann Kruger (Michael Nardone) on the rooftops of London, and wore this style of suit throughout the first few episodes.

The costume comprises a dark grey overcoat with a faux fur collar (labelled "Hero"); a grey three-piece suit; a white shirt; a grey patterned tie; a pair of silver-plated "AG" monogrammed cufflinks; a pair of black leather gloves; and a pair of black leather heeled boots (both labelled "Double"). There are handwritten labels, each reading "Hero", sewn inside the waistcoat and shirt.

Made of dense rubber, the sword features a thin blade and an ornate handle finished to replicate worked ivory, and is sheathed in a black scabbard attached to a leather belt. Some stitching has come undone on the trousers' waistband, and there is an intentional hole on the left shoe's sole. The lot is accompanied by a still of Meyers wearing the costume. Dimensions (sword): 73 cm x 8 cm x 7 cm (28  $\frac{3}{4}$ " x 3  $\frac{1}{4}$ " x 2  $\frac{3}{4}$ "); (still): 25.5 cm x 20.5 cm (10" x 8")

104. Leeloo's (Milla Jovovich) Costume Display м

THE FIFTH ELEMENT (1997)

Leeloo's (Milla Jovovich) costume from Luc Besson's sci-fi adventure The Fifth Element. Leeloo created her costume when she picked random garments from a selection of clothes at Father Vito Cornelius' (Ian Holm) home. She wore her signature costume throughout the latter half of the film as she and Korben Dallas (Bruce Willis) attempted to recover the Mondoshawan elemental stones. Established fashion and costume designer Jean-Paul Gaultier was hired to produce more than 1,000 unique costumes for the production. Gaultier opted for a bright colour palette and non-traditional materials, such as rubber and plexiglass, to create fresh and innovative designs.

The custom-made costume comprises a white ribbed stretch knitted crop T-shirt; a pair of orange silicone braces; and a pair of light gold-coloured leggings featuring lines of black piping that form grid-like detailing on the front and back. A pair of black leather platform-heeled boots have been added to complete the display. The attire is presented on a custom-built display with a base featuring the Fifth Element title artwork in yellow. There are marks and signs of discolouration present on the top and the under crotch of the braces has a minor split. Dimensions (displayed): 37 cm x 49 cm x 168 cm (14 ½" x 19 ½" x 66 ¼")

105. Korben Dallas' (Bruce Willis) Costume Display м

THE FIFTH ELEMENT (1997)

Korben Dallas' (Bruce Willis) costume display from Luc Besson's sci-fi adventure The Fifth Element. Korben Dallas wore his costume for most of the film, from his encounter with a mugger (Mathieu Kassovitz) at his apartment to arriving on the Fhloston Paradise cruise ship with Leeloo (Milla Jovovich).

Established fashion and costume designer Jean-Paul Gaultier was hired to produce more than 1,000 unique costumes for the production. Gaultier opted for a bright colour palette and non-traditional materials, such as rubber and plexiglass, to create fresh and innovative designs.

The costume comprises a bright orange rubber vest with an attached pair of black nylon shorts; a pair of dark grey nylon trousers with light contrast stitching all over (labelled "1"); and a pair of chunky, black leather boots. There are three straps with Velcro fastenings on the back of the top and two hidden zip fastenings on the front of the trousers. Lacing detail runs down the front crotch, inner leg seams and back seam of the trousers.

Dallas' attire is presented on a custom-built display, with a base featuring the Fifth Element title artwork. Completing the costume is Dallas' stunt pistol, held in the display's right hand. The heavily modified solid rubber Vektor CP1 pistol is finished in black and silver-coloured paint, with green-coloured non-functioning acrylic bulbs located on both sides of the futuristic-looking weapon. There are light signs of production use, including minor cracking and marks on the rubber top. Dimensions (displayed): 37 cm x 59 cm x 174 cm (14  $\frac{1}{2}$ " x 23  $\frac{1}{4}$ " x 68  $\frac{1}{2}$ ")

108. Element Key †A

THE FIFTH ELEMENT (1997)

Element Key from Luc Besson's sci-fi adventure The Fifth Element. The Element Key was given to humanity by a Mondoshawan in 1914, and passed down through the generations of her signature outfit, having picked them out from a selection of clothes at Father Vito by a secretive order of priests. When a great evil returned to Earth in 2263, the key was carried by the priest Vito Cornelius (Ian Holm), who used it to allow Korben Dallas (Bruce Willis) access to a stone chamber, in order to activate the weapon contained within.

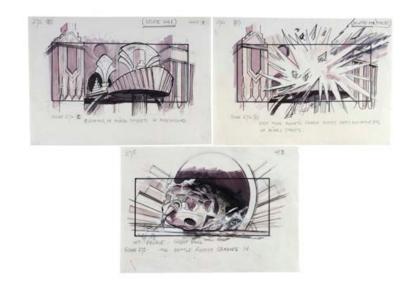

> This key was made by animatronics designer Terry Jones and served as a back-up on the production. The key comprises three metal blades on the end of a thin metal rod, with a four missing. The blades feature an ornate pattern, and the entire key has a bronzed finish and is mounted on a custom-made stand. There are sections at the base of the blades where the soldering is visible, and one of the blades is no longer present. Dimensions: 7 cm x 7 cm x 14.5 cm (2 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 2 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 5 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

CHARLES LIPPINCOTT COLLECTION

Lots in this section of the auction come from the collection of Charles "Charley" Lippincott. Lippincott is considered among the foremost marketing and merchandising experts in the history of science-fiction. After an early start in traditional Hollywood publicity, his career exploded when college friend George Lucas hired him as Lucasfilm's VP of Advertising, Publicity, Promotion & Merchandising, a role he used to create arguably the most successful – and bombastic – marketing campaign ever for Lucas' original Star Wars trilogy. Lippincott subsequently masterminded the publicity strategies for such era-defining properties as Ridley Scott's Alien and Mike Hodges' Flash Gordon, both of which are represented in this auction. The popularity of these projects further propelled him into the top ranks of film executives, leading him to produce Danny Cannon's cult classic Judge Dredd, which is also heavily featured in this catalog. While Charley Lippincott passed away in 2020, his personal collection reflects a legacy of rare influence and lifelong fandom.

123. Production-made Terror Dog Stop-motion Puppet Casting Ω

GHOSTBUSTERS (1984)

A production-made Terror Dog stop-motion puppet casting from Ivan Reitman's sci-fi comedy Ghostbusters. Gozer the Gozerian (Slavitza Jovan) brought two gargoyles to life as demonic dogs with glowing red eyes. The Terror Dogs were created by Boss Film Studios using a combination of stop-motion animation and puppetry, helping earn the film an Academy Award® nomination for Visual Effects.

This hand-painted, production-made 1/4-scale foam latex puppet was crafted by production from original Dog molds, but ultimately unused onscreen. It is cast around a wire armature and affixed to a black wood base for stability and display. It exhibits some signs of age, including cracking around the joints and minor discolouration in spots, and there are several chips in the display base. Dimensions:  $65 \text{ cm} \times 43.25 \text{ cm} \times 28 \text{ cm}$ (25 1/2" x 17" x 11")

124. Screen-matched Titanic Model Miniature †

GHOSTBUSTERS 2 (1989)

A screen-matched model miniature of the R.M.S. Titanic from Ivan Reitman's supernatural comedy sequel Ghostbusters II. The Titanic and its ghostly passengers appeared at the New York docks after the evil slime under the streets of the city began to cause widespread chaos. The model matches the one seen on screen, identified by the holes and markings toward the front.

Built for the production by the artists at Industrial Light & Magic, the miniature is of the bow section of the ship and is predominantly resin sheet mounted over a wooden frame, with carved biscuit foam inside for shape and stability. The ship is intentionally distressed to look like it has been at the bottom of the Atlantic for decades, with a large gaping hole on the right side.

There are a couple of small lights and some clear perspex rods on the deck through which light would have emanated, giving a ghostly glow, although these are no longer functional.

The ship has some wear from age and use, and several of the resin panels and railings are no longer present on the sides of the ship. Dimensions: 155 cm  $\times$  53 cm  $\times$  140 cm (61" x 20 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 55")

140. SFX Bloodletting Roman Infantry Sword †A

GLADIATOR (2000)

A SFX bloodletting Roman infantry sword from Ridley Scott's Oscar®-winning historical epic Gladiator. Roman legionaries wielded their swords as they fought barbarians in the forests of Germania during the film's opening battle.

The weapon comprises a metal blade, a notched wooden grip, a wooden guard, and a spherical wooden pommel. This version of the sword features a bloodletting tube fitted into the bottom of the pommel, allowing stage blood to be fed through and flow out of a small slit present on one side of the blade. The sword displays light scuffing, scratching on the blade and signs of minor corrosion near the slit. Dimensions: 85 cm x 9 cm x 6.5 cm (33 ½" x 3 ½" x 2 ½")

141. Maximus' (Russell Crowe) Arena Helmet and Mask м

GLADIATOR (2000)

Maximus' (Russell Crowe) arena helmet and mask from Ridley Scott's Oscar®-winning historical epic Gladiator. Maximus wore his helmet and mask during the reenactment of the famous Battle of Carthage, in which he rallied the desperate gladiators against the charioteers, overcoming all odds to achieve a glorious victory.

The helmet is made of fibreglass with embedded metal powder to present as if constructed of metal, and is lined with padded black leather. Blunted spikes adorn the exterior, down the centre of which a pointed fin vertically runs, and a neck guard is incorporated into the back. Shades of dark grey and black are applied to produce a weathered, battle-worn appearance, and there are intentional dents.

Also exhibiting a weathered finish, the fibreglass front section mask has large eye holes, a nose guard and angular detailing. The mask is attached to the helmet via two intricate cast-metal buttons, each decorated with a flower emblem.

Parts of this particular helmet, including the tip of the fin, were sympathetically repaired after being damaged on set. Presented on a custom-made display, the helmet exhibits minor wear on the leather edges and repair work on the front of the fin. Dimensions (displayed): 27 cm x 20 cm x 44 cm (10  $\frac{1}{2}$ " x 8" x 17  $\frac{1}{4}$ ")

Estimate: £30,000 - 50,000

142. Maximus' (Russell Crowe) Arena Armour м

GLADIATOR (2000)

Maximus' (Russell Crowe) arena armour from Ridley Scott's Oscar®-winning historical epic Gladiator. Maximus wore his armour during the climactic duel against Commodus (Joaquin Phoenix) in the Colosseum. Maximus was given the armour by Proximo (Oliver Reed) early in his gladiatorial career, and it was embellished as Maximus' story progressed, with a tree, Maximus' two horses, his wife and son, and finally an angel added to the chestplate, while full epaulettes were added to the shoulders.

The chest and back plates are made of padded foam, and the epaulettes are fibreglass. All sections are lined with leather, and the armour features a pair of leather straps on each side and laces on the shoulders to fasten it in place. The armour has been intentionally distressed to look well used in battle. It is displayed on a custom-made stand, and has additional wear from age and use, including scuffing, scratches and some cracking to the paintwork. Some of the decorations on the chestplate have started to peel away in places. Dimensions (displayed): 30 cm x 53 cm x 78 cm (11 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 20 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 30 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>)

The armour is a prototype version made of fibreglass painted to appear bronze and silver. The chestplate and backplate are connected with a pair of leather straps on each Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000 side. The armour has been intentionally distressed, with slashes on the chestplate to make it appear battle-worn.

Maximus' (Russell Crowe) prototype general armour from Ridley Scott's Oscar®-winning The armour is displayed on a custom-built stand and has some scuffs and scratches from use and age, most notably on the interior. Dimensions (displayed): 30 cm x 40 cm x 74 cm (11 ¾" x 15 ¾" x 29 ¼")

144. Maximus' (Russell Crowe) Arena Greaves м

GLADIATOR (2000)

Maximus' (Russell Crowe) arena greaves from Ridley Scott's Oscar®-winning historical epic Gladiator. Maximus wore his greaves as he fought Emperor Commodus (Joaquin Phoenix) in the climactic duel in the Colosseum.

The greaves are made of fibreglass, painted to look like metal, with an ornate design on the front. They have leather-covered foam padding on the inside, and tie around the back of the leg with leather string. They are displayed on a custom-made, wood-and-metal stand. The greaves have some wear from production use and age, including scuffing and scratches to the paintwork on the front, and small chips to the edges of the fibreglass. Dimensions (displayed): 18 cm x 36 cm x 61 cm (7" x 14 ¼" x 24")

Estimate: £4,000 - 6,000

145. Zucchabar Arena Gladiator Helmet and Leg Armour †

GLADIATOR (2000)

A Zucchabar arena gladiator helmet and set of leg armour from Ridley Scott's Oscar®-winning historical epic Gladiator. Gladiators wore their helmets and armour in the arena at Zucchabar during Maximus' (Russell Crowe) first fight, and this armour was worn by a warrior who fought Maximus' ally Hagen (Ralf Moeller).

The lot comprises a helmet with protective cheek and nose guards; a pair of knee pads; and a pair of greaves featuring adjoined foot guards. All five components are made of fibreglass and are finished in silver paint to resemble metal, with added distressing to replicate a battle-worn appearance.

The armour features several long brown leather ties, and pieces of foam padding are adhered to the helmet's interior. The set exhibits minor wear and dust remnants from production use. Dimensions (helmet): 33 cm x 16 cm x 31 cm (13" x 6 ¼" x 12 ¼")

Estimate: £4,000 - 6,000

146. Lyra's (Dakota Blue Richards) Alethiometer Ω

THE GOLDEN COMPASS (2007)

Lyra's (Dakota Blue Richards) alethiometer from Chris Weitz's fantasy adventure The Golden Compass. The alethiometer is the "golden compass" of the film's title and is thus a key prop, which featured heavily throughout the movie. This spiritual device gave a true answer to any question asked, and was used by Lyra as she travelled north to rescue her best friend Roger (Ben Walker) and other kidnapped children from the Gobblers.

This particular closed version of the alethiometer was used when the practical opening version – which was extremely complex and expensive to make - was not required.

The prop department created the ornate outer shell of the device from forged brass, which is decorated with intricately engraved symbols and numbers. Three faux winding crowns adorn the outside edge, and the lot displays some intentional weathering to appear used. Dimensions: 9.5 cm x 8.5 cm x 3 cm (3 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 3 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 1 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

A brown half-body gremlin puppet from Joe Dante's comedy horror sequel Gremlins 2: The New Batch. Having taken over Clamp Center in New York, a horde of vile gremlins wreaked havoc against those still trapped in the building.

This latex and polyfoam gremlin puppet with its bottom half open for puppeteering is painted brown, orange, and black with veiny resin eyes and black painted pupils. The head, which previously broke off the body due to deterioration, has been re-attached through restoration and stabilization. The puppet remains extremely fragile with cracked and flaking latex throughout and a puncture at the bottom chest. Dimensions: 51 cm  $\times$ 25.5 cm x 56 cm (20" x 10" x 22")

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

147. Gremlin Puppet Ω

GREMLINS 2: THE NEW BATCH (1990)

A gremlin puppet from Joe Dante's comedy-horror sequel Gremlins 2: The New Batch. After taking over the Clamp Center in New York, a horde of vile gremlins wreaked havoc on those still trapped in the high-tech, high-rise building. This full-body puppet was created by Academy Award®-winning special makeup effects artist Rick Baker and his team.

This gremlin's head is made of foam latex, while its body is made of latex and polyfoam, with a metal skeleton. It is painted predominantly brown and orange, with red resin eyes. Lengths of fishing wire and string protrude from several parts of the body, allowing it to be puppeteered. The gremlin has some wear from production use and age, most notably cracking to the fragile latex skin in places, while the tip of its right ear has come away. The gremlin is displayed on a custom-made, clear acrylic stand. Dimensions (displayed): 42 cm x 46 cm x 67 cm (16 ½" x 18" x 26 ½")

Special shipping required; see special shipping notice in the Buyer's Guide.

156. Ray Harryhausen Hand-drawn Concept Artwork of Cerberus and Jason (Todd Armstrong) †∆

JASON AND THE ARGONAUTS (1963)

A Ray Harryhausen hand-drawn concept artwork of Cerberus and Jason (Todd Armstrong) from the production of Don Chaffey's mythical adventure film Jason and the Argonauts. This particular piece depicts a deleted scene in which Jason fought Cerberus, the canine guardian of Hades, here portrayed with two heads. The concept was later used in Desmond Davis' Clash of the Titans (1981), in which Perseus (Harry Hamlin) battled Dioskilos, the two-headed dog.

The artwork is rendered in pencil on tracing paper and shows the unarmed Jason charging towards the hellish hound. The piece has tears along the top, a missing bottom-left corner and light graphite smudging throughout. Dimensions: 50 cm x 37 cm (19 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 14 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>")

Sold without copyright; see copyright notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £2,000 - 3,000

159. Harry Potter (Daniel Radcliffe) Hogwarts Acceptance Letter  $\ensuremath{\mathsf{M}}$

HARRY POTTER AND THE PHILOSOPHER'S STONE (2001)

A Hogwarts acceptance letter from Chris Columbus' fantasy-adventure film Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone. Owl post inundated the Dursley household with letters informing Harry Potter (Daniel Radcliffe) of his acceptance into Hogwarts, despite his Uncle Vernon's (Richard Griffiths) best efforts to hide or destroy them.

The envelope is made from marble-effect paper, with Harry's address printed in green on the front and the Hogwarts crest on the reverse. As a hero envelope, it features a red wax Hogwarts seal, unlike the many entirely printed versions also used in the scene.

The envelope remains sealed with a letter contained within, and is in excellent overall condition. The wax seal has cracked and a small fragment is missing at the bottom, but the Hogwarts crest is still clearly identifiable. The envelope is accompanied by a printed letter of donation from Warner Bros., a copy of the letter contained within, and a photocopied front cover of a 2001 edition of USA Weekend featuring Radcliffe opening a similar letter. Dimensions (envelope): 13 cm x 18 cm x 0.5 cm (5  $\frac{14}{3} \times 7 \frac{14}{3} \times \frac{14}{3}$ )

Estimate: £10,000 - 15,000

160. Harry Potter's (Daniel Radcliffe) Pyjamas м

HARRY POTTER AND THE PHILOSOPHER'S STONE (2001)

Harry Potter's (Daniel Radcliffe) pyjamas from Chris Columbus' fantasy-adventure film Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone. Harry wore his nightclothes in several scenes, including the moment he received an invisibility cloak on Christmas morning, and the scene in the hospital wing, where Dumbledore (Richard Harris) informed him the Philosopher's Stone had been destroyed.

Warner Bros. originally donated this lot as part of a Harry Potter prize to the Children with Leukaemia Charity Ball, held at Grosvenor House Hotel in London in 2010. This pair of white cotton pyjamas with blue stripes was custom-made for the production by Derek Rose, but ultimately unused. They comprise a long-sleeved button-up shirt and a pair of trousers. The lot is accompanied by three printed stills from the film and a photocopy of the original list of items included in the Charity Ball prize.

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

161. Golden Snitch Executive Crew Gift м

HARRY POTTER AND THE PHILOSOPHER'S STONE (2001)

A golden snitch executive crew gift from the production of Chris Columbus' fantasyadventure film Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone. The Golden Snitch was the most important ball in the broomstick-based sport known as Quidditch, and replica snitches were gifted to Warner Bros. executives and VIPs to commemorate the film's release. Only 50 are thought to have been produced.

This snitch is constructed from gold-plated brass, and has intricate silver-coloured wings. It is presented in a custom-made wooden box with a black velvet interior and brass clasps. The lot also includes a Warner Bros. certificate of authenticity, and displays minimal wear from handling. Dimensions (snitch): 16 cm x 5 cm x 4 cm (6 ¼" x 2" x 1 ½"); (box): 13.5 cm x 22 cm x 11 cm (5 ¼" x 8 ¾" x 4 ¼")

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

162. Dumbledore's (Michael Gambon) Office Train Set м

HARRY POTTER AND THE PRISONER OF AZKABAN (2004)

Dumbledore's (Michael Gambon) train set from Alfonso Cuarón's fantasy sequel Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban. A train set circled one of the many orreries seen within Dumbledore's converted office when Professor Lupin (David Thewlis) taught Harry (Daniel Radcliffe) the Patronus charm.

The item is an original O-gauge Hornby® clockwork train set that has been modified by the senior special effects technician Nigel Brackley to be battery operated. The set consists of a green locomotive, three brown train cars, 11 rails, a clockwork engine mechanism and a large spiral spring. The train is made of diecast metal tin and plastic and comes in its original storage box. Displaying signs of age and production use, the set comes with a pair of Warner Bros. rental invoices, a copy of a Hornby Hobbies article, a printed letter explaining its history and a handwritten compliments slip. Dimensions (storage box): 41 cm x 36 cm x 9 cm (16" x 14" x 3 ½")

163. Background Wand м

HARRY POTTER AND THE DEATHLY HALLOWS: PART 2 (2011)

A background wand from David Yates' fantasy adventure Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows: Part 2. Students carried their wands as they prepared for the Battle of Hogwarts against Voldemort (Ralph Fiennes) and his Death Eaters.

Made of resin, the wand is finished in shades of brown paint to resemble natural wood, and displays a faux-grain texture. It has eight lizard-like creatures etched along its length. The wand exhibits some signs of wear at the base, and bubble marks from the casting process. Dimensions: 37 cm x 1 cm x 1 cm (14 ½" x ½" x ½")

A percentage of the proceeds from the sale of this lot will be donated to the Starlight Children's Foundation.

Estimate: £6,000 - 8,000

164. Hogwarts Student Gryffindor House Robe м

HARRY POTTER AND THE DEATHLY HALLOWS: PART 2 (2011)

A Hogwarts student Gryffindor House robe from David Yates' fantasy adventure Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows: Part 2. Hogwarts students were wearing robes as part of their uniform when Severus Snape (Alan Rickman) called for an assembly in the Great Hall, where he ordered anyone who knew the whereabouts of Harry Potter (Daniel Radcliffe) to come forward.

The black cotton robe features a large pointed hood and short wide sleeves, with an embroidered Gryffindor crest adorning the left breast. It is lined with black synthetic fabric, with burgundy cotton lining the hood and front facings. Pockets are incorporated into the side seams and there is a button fastening on the front. The cloak displays signs of production use, including minor marks, with small holes at the back of the exterior neckline and on the lining neckline, which has caused some fraying.

A percentage of the proceeds from the sale of this lot will be donated to the Starlight Children's Foundation.

Estimate: £10,000 - 15,000

165. Gryffindor House Tie м

HARRY POTTER AND THE DEATHLY HALLOWS: PART 2 (2011)

A Gryffindor House tie from David Yates' fantasy-adventure Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows: Part 2. Hogwarts students wore ties as part of their uniform throughout the film, including the sequence where Severus Snape (Alan Rickman) and Professor McGonagall (Maggie Smith) duelled in the Great Hall.

The Seppi silk tie is scarlet red and decorated with gold-coloured diagonal stripes – red and gold being the Gryffindor colours. The tie shows minimal signs of wear, with some light creasing from storage over time.

A percentage of the proceeds from the sale of this lot will be donated to the Starlight Children's Foundation.

Estimate: £2,000 - 3,000

166. Gryffindor House Patch and "Monitor" Badge м

HARRY POTTER AND THE DEATHLY HALLOWS: PART 2 (2011)

A Gryffindor House patch and "Monitor" badge from David Yates' fantasy adventure Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows: Part 2. House patches decorated the robes worn by students attending Hogwarts. They were notably seen in the Great Hall when Severus Snape (Alan Rickman) ordered any students who knew the whereabouts of Harry Potter (Daniel Radcliffe) to come forward.

The black embroidered felt patch shows a lion on a red-and-gold-coloured shield, with "Gryffindor" below the shield in black. The red enamel bar badge features the word "Monitor" in gold-coloured text. There are minimal signs of wear on both items. Dimensions (patch): 8 cm x 7 cm ( $3 \frac{14}{3}$  x  $2 \frac{3}{4}$ "); (badge): 1 cm x 4.5 cm x 0.5 cm ( $\frac{12}{2}$  x  $1 \frac{3}{4}$ " x  $\frac{14}{3}$ "

A percentage of the proceeds from the sale of this lot will be donated to the Starlight Children's Foundation.

Estimate: £1,500 - 2,500

167. Set of Fawkes Feathers м

HARRY POTTER AND THE DEATHLY HALLOWS: PART 2 (2011)

A set of Fawkes feathers from the production of David Yates' fantasy adventure Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows: Part 2. Fawkes was Albus Dumbledore's (Michael Gambon) beloved pet phoenix, who had left Hogwarts after the wizard headmaster's death in Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince. Fawkes was created using a combination of CGI and an animatronic puppet covered in vibrantly dyed feathers. The puppet was so convincing that actor Richard Harris – who played Dumbledore in the first Harry Potter film – initially believed it was a real bird.

The lot comprises seven feathers dyed in shades of red and orange. They come with a Warner Bros. compliment slip displaying a handwritten message, and their original envelope, which features "George" written in black ink. There are light signs of creasing and minor marks on the envelope. Dimensions (largest): 12 cm x 6.5 cm (4  $^{3}\!\!\!/ 4$  " x 2 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>"); (slip): 10 cm x 21 cm (4" x 8 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

A percentage of the proceeds from the sale of this lot will be donated to the Starlight Children's Foundation.

Estimate: £800 - 1,200

168. Daniel Radcliffe and Main Cast-autographed Replica Wands and Gryffindor Banner м

HARRY POTTER AND THE DEATHLY HALLOWS: PART 1 AND PART 2 (2010-2011)

A collection of cast-autographed wands and a banner from the promotion of David Yates' two-part fantasy-adventure sequel Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows: Part 1 and Part 2.

The lot includes replica wands for Harry Potter (Daniel Radcliffe), Voldemort (Ralph Fiennes), Luna Lovegood (Evanna Lynch) and Albus Dumbledore (Michael Gambon), all except Dumbledore's are autographed by their corresponding cast member in black or silver-coloured ink. Each wand is made of plastic and comes in a card box featuring scenes from the film, and an additional autographed piece of paper.

Completing the set is a red, yellow and blue polyester Gryffindor banner autographed by Radcliffe, Emma Watson and Rupert Grint in black ink. The boxes exhibit minor wear from their time in storage. Dimensions (each wand box): 39.5 cm x 7 cm x 3.5 cm (15 ½" x 2 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 1 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>"); (banner): 142 cm x 40 cm (56" x 15 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

Estimate: £1,000 - 1,500

169. Collection of Crew Clothing м

HARRY POTTER SERIES

A collection of crew clothing from various Harry Potter productions. The lot consists of a black cotton Chamber of Secrets cap (labelled "Size: 57cm"); a grey-and-black "Creatures & MakeUp FX" fleece-lined waterproof jacket (no size marked); a navy blue Chamber of Secrets fleece gilet (size M); a navy blue Chamber of Secrets T-shirt (size M); a black "HP2 Crew" hoodie (size M); a dark grey "HP Crew" woollen jumper (size M); a grey "Quidditch VFX Crew" baseball-style top (size S); a dark green "HP Crew" T-shirt (size S); and a light blue "Hogwarts Quidditch" T-shirt (no size marked). The set displays light wear from use, minor plucks and cracking on some of the printed text.

Estimate: £400 - 600

170. Major Marquis Warren's (Samuel L. Jackson) Complete Costume м

THE HATEFUL EIGHT (2015)

Major Marquis Warren's (Samuel L. Jackson) complete costume from Quentin Tarantino's Western The Hateful Eight. Warren wore his costume throughout the film.

It consists of a white shirt; a floral-patterned waistcoat; a black jacket; a navy blue overcoat with yellow lining labelled "Warren 6"; a pair of black trousers; a pair of black leather boots; a black, wide-brim hat; a black, leather belt labelled "Maj. Warren 1/2 'Hero' Double"; black, elasticated suspenders; a red tie; a long woollen scarf; and a pair of leather gloves. The costume has been intentionally distressed to appear well worn, especially the gloves and waistcoat. The belt features loops for several metal, faux bullets. The costume has some additional wear from production use, including scuffing and scratches to the leather pieces.

Estimate: £5,000 - 7,000

171. Sammael Mechanical Head м

HELLBOY (2004)

A Sammael mechanical head from Guillermo del Toro's fantasy horror Hellboy. Mechanical heads were used for close-up shots of Sammael the hellhound as he fought Hellboy (Ron Perlman) and the other members of the BPRD.

Made from fiberglass and resin with metal components, with soft foam-latex around the snout, the head features internal mechanisms to manoeuvre Sammael's three asymmetrical eyes and jaws. It also features a fitted helmet towards the back, allowing it to be worn by the performer.

It comes with a hard foam stand, painted to look like a ceremonial stone, which features the same symbol seen on the demon's body. The head shows discolouration and wear to the foam latex, while the gelatinous substance used around each eye has worn away entirely exposing the mechanisms behind, and the right side of the jaw is missing its connective latex membrane. Dimensions (head): 57 cm x 40 cm x 28 cm (22 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>" x 16" x 11"); (stand): 47 cm x 27 cm x 14 cm (18 ½" x 10 ½ x 5 ½")

Contains electronics; see electronics notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

172. Hellboy (Ron Perlman) Mask м

HELLBOY II: THE GOLDEN ARMY (2008)

A Hellboy (Ron Perlman) mask from Guillermo del Toro's supernatural superhero sequel Hellboy II: The Golden Army.

The mask is made of foam latex and painted Hellboy's iconic red colour. An intentional split runs down the back of the mask to the shoulders, and it has elasticated material beneath the foam latex and protruding from the bottom, making it easier to put on and remove.

The mask is displayed upon a custom-made acrylic bust, and has some wear from production use and age, including cracking to the foam latex – most notably across the bridge of the nose, around the eyes, and at the base of the neck. Dimensions (displayed): 28 cm x 31 cm x  $\,$ 39 cm (11" x 12 ¼" x 15 ¼")

Estimate: £2,000 - 3,000

173. Lament Configuration Puzzle Вох м

HELLRAISER (1987)

A Lament Configuration puzzle box from Clive Barker's horror film Hellraiser. Essential to the film's plot, the Lament Configuration puzzle box created a gateway to a dimension of suffering, and summoned the demonic Cenobites. Frank Cotton (Sean Chapman) purchased the box at the beginning of the film, and it was eventually taken from him by Kirsty (Ashley Laurence), who banished the Cenobites by closing the box. This lot comes from the collection of the production's credited special makeup effects workshop supervisor Geoff Portass.

One of eight boxes produced for the film, the box is made of solid oak and is decorated with ornate brass-etched patterned panels adhered to every side. A layer of varnish is applied all over to produce a slight shine. There are some signs of light scratching, the brass etchings have begun to peel in some places, and there is a dent on one corner where the box was dropped during filming. It is accompanied by a letter of authenticity from Portass detailing its history. Dimensions: 7.5 cm x 7.5 cm x 7.5 cm (3" x 3" x 3")

Estimate: £10,000 - 15,000

174. Geoff Portass' Personal Filming Script and Behind-the-scenes Photos $\ensuremath{\mathsf{M}}$

HELLRAISER (1987)

Special make-up effects supervisor Geoff Portass' personal filming script and behind-thescenes photos from the production of Clive Barker's horror film Hellraiser.

The script, credited to Clive Barker, consists of 97 pages, including the title page, which features Geoff Portass' name handwritten along the top. Tabs marked with various numbers are stuck to multiple pages. The script is bound in red card with two metal butterfly pins, and comes with a letter of authenticity signed by Geoff Portass.

Of the 17 photos, six were taken during the production of Hellraiser, while 11 were taken during the production of Hellbound: Hellraiser II. Each image is numbered on the reverse and comes with a comprehensive list detailing each image. Many of the images show the crew at work on set or in the studio, but some show lighter moments, such as actor Doug Bradley in Pinhead make-up wearing a red nose for Comic Relief. Dimensions (script): 30 cm x 22 cm ( $12^n \times 8\%^n \times 14^n$ )

Sold without copyright; see copyright notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £1,000 - 1,500

175. Mechanical Engineer Head м

HELLRAISER (1987)

A mechanical Engineer head from Clive Barker's horror film Hellraiser. The demonic Engineer chased Kirsty (Ashley Laurence) after she inadvertently solved the Lament Configuration puzzle box, causing a portal to open in the wall of her hospital room.

The head, made by Bob Keen and his team at Image Animation, comprises a fibreglass skull featuring a pair of cat-like eyes; a menacing set of yellowed sharp teeth; and a moveable lower jaw section. Contained within the skull are multiple cables and radio-controlled servos, which once operated the facial movements.

The majority of the head's foam-latex skin has worn away over time, but some remains around the cheeks and chin areas. The head remains in a fragile state and there are signs of wear, including scuffing and paint wear, and the lower jaw section has warped slightly over time. Dimensions: 28 cm x 23 cm x 44 cm ( $11^{"}$  x 9" x 17 ¼")

Contains electronics and mechanical components; see electronics and mechanical components notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £1,000 - 1,500

176. Chatterer III (Mike J. Regan) Mask and Costume м

HELLRAISER VIII: HELLWORLD (2005)

A Chatterer III (Mike J. Regan) mask and costume from Rick Bota's horror sequel Hellraiser: Hellworld. Chatterer notably appeared alongside Pinhead (Doug Bradley) and the Bound Cenobite (Gary J. Tunnicliffe) when the Host (Lance Henriksen) opened the Lament Configuration in a motel room. The items in this lot were made by special effects designer Gary J. Tunnicliffe, who later directed Hellraiser: Judgment.

The foam-latex mask features disfigured skin, a stretched open mouth revealing a set of discoloured teeth, and multiple incorporated silver-coloured cord pieces replicating metal hooks. There is an opening at the back which is hidden by a faux-leather strip. The costume comprises a black foam-latex tunic and a pair of intentionally distressed black imitation leather trousers (size 32). A zip runs down the back of the tunic and is hidden by a removable leather strip, adhered via two long strips of Velcro. The lot displays signs of wear, including cracks and flaking on the foam-latex components, and some of the Velcro on the tunic has become unstuck over time.

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

178. Connor MacLeod (Christopher Lambert) and Ramirez (Sean Connery) Hand-drawn Costume Designs $\Omega$

HIGHLANDER (1986)

A set of hand-drawn Connor MacLeod (Christopher Lambert) and Ramirez (Sean Connery) costume designs from the production of Russell Mulcahy's fantasy actionadventure Highlander. Several small rough sketches of belt designs run down the left side of the MacLeod drawing. Both designs are signed by Acheson and presented in protective plastic sheets. There are small tears along the top of the MacLeod sketch. Dimensions (each design): 42 cm x 29.5 cm (16 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>" x 11 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>")

Created by Academy Award®-winning costume designer James Acheson, the two detailed, full-length sketches are rendered in pencil, one on drawing paper and the other on tracing paper. The Ramirez illustration is accompanied by a peacock feather and

HIGHLANDER (1986)

A set of hand-painted and hand-drawn costume designs from the production of Russell Mulcahy's fantasy action-adventure Highlander.

Created by Academy Award®-winning costume designer James Acheson, the designs depict Connor MacLeod (Christopher Lambert), The Kurgan (Clancy Brown) and Ramirez (Sean Connery).

The annotated designs are rendered in pencil, watercolour and ink on paper, and each piece is labelled with the character or actor's name. The Connor MacLeod design features a list of costume components, and a tartan swatch is stapled to the lower-left corner. Presented in protective plastic sleeves, all four drawings are signed by Acheson and display minimal wear from production use and age. Dimensions (largest design): 42 cm x 29.5 cm (16  $\frac{1}{2}$ " x 11  $\frac{1}{2}$ "); (smallest design): 29.5 cm x 23 cm (11  $\frac{1}{2}$ " x 9")

179. General Katana's (Michael Ironside) Sword м

HIGHLANDER II: THE QUICKENING (1991)

General Katana's (Michael Ironside) sword from Russell Mulcahy's sci-fi sequel Highlander II: The Quickening. Katana wielded his sword throughout the film, while battling fellow immortal Connor MacLeod (Christopher Lambert).

The sword features a solid metal blade, which is fixed and does not extend as per the SFX version in the film. The base of the blade features resin spikes and detailing, which runs a third of the way up its length. The guard is made of resin and the handle and pommel are metal. Grey leather strips are wrapped around the grip. The sword has wear from production use and age, while the paint has come away in places along the grip, guard and blade. The points at the end of the spikes and guard have chipped away, revealing the metal armature beneath. Dimensions: 130 cm x 33 cm x 7 cm (51 ¼" x 13" x 2 ¾")

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

180. Master Of Lake-town's (Stephen Fry) Portrait †A

THE HOBBIT: THE DESOLATION OF SMAUG (2013)

The Master Of Lake-town's (Stephen Fry) portrait from Peter Jackson's fantasy adventure prequel The Hobbit: The Desolation of Smaug. A portrait of the Master hung in his chambers as he and his deputy Alfrid Lickspittle (Ryan Gage) discussed their growing concerns about civil disorder within the town.

Printed on canvas, with paint applied to some sections, the large portrait shows Laketown's leader standing proudly, dressed in an elaborate doublet. The piece is presented in a dense hardened foam frame, finished to replicate the appearance of ornately carved wood, and "Stephen Fry" is written on the back in black paint. The frame exhibits signs of production use, including light scuffing, scratching, and glue remnants. The lot is accompanied by a handwritten note from Fry detailing the authenticity of the portrait. Dimensions: 171 cm x 140 cm x 10 cm (67 ¼" x 55" x 4")

Special shipping required; see special shipping notice in the Buyer's Guide. Sold without copyright; see copyright notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £4,000 - 6,000

181. Full-size Battle-damaged NS-5 Robot м

I. ROBOT (2004)

A full-size, battle-damaged NS-5 robot from Alex Proyas' sci-fi action film I, Robot. In 2035, Chicago Detective Del Spooner (Will Smith) investigated the murder of a scientist by an NS-5 robot, despite the fact that, according to the "Three Laws of Robotics", robots were not capable of harming humans.

Most of the robots in the film were computer generated, but life-size practical models were required for certain scenes, such as one which took place in Dr. Lanning's (James Cromwell) laboratory, as well as during the climactic battle, when Spooner and Dr. Calvin (Bridget Moynahan) fought off a horde of NS-5s while civilians staged pitched battles with the robots in the streets.

The robot is constructed from various different materials - including formed acrylic for the arm and leg plates, and resin for the joints - with a metal armature at its core. Both the legs and arms move, but are not poseable.

This robot has been intentionally battle damaged. The head is partially melted and the chest plate is missing, revealing its interior mechanisms and bundles of exposed wires. One of the calf plates has also been blackened and cracked.

The robot comes on a custom-made metal display. Other than the obvious intentional distress, it has some additional wear from production use, including cracked paintwork and chips which reveal the resin beneath. Dimensions

182. Lindsay Anderson's Palme d'Or Cannes Film Festival Best Film Award 1969 $\boldsymbol{\Omega}$

IF... (1968)

Lindsay Anderson's Grand Prix du Festival International du Film, now known as the Palme d'Or - the highest prize of the Cannes Film Festival - awarded for best movie in 1969 for if.

if... was Lyndsay Anderson's controversial satire on life in an English boys boarding school, starring Malcolm McDowell in the role of Mick Travis. It is still regarded as one of the best British movies of all time.

The prestigious Cannes award, unheard of in private ownership, was awarded to a young Irish filmmaker in London in the 1970's as a first prize in a competition for amateur short films. His film, A.R.F.A. (Automated Robotronic Footballing Assembly), was filmed at a local football stadium and shot in Super 8. Given the notorious issues with sound recording on those cameras, a unique way of syncing sound and pictures was developed. The sound was recorded separately on reel-to-reel and added manually to the footage, matching the sound by slowing the projector spools by hand - quite the technical achievement.

The Palme d'Or appears to be made from terracotta and is inscribed "1969 Cannes festival international du film". The legendary golden palm itself is made from metal and is missing a frond. There is a small chip to the top edge and the thumb, on the open palm, is missing. There is a hole at the base where the award was previously displayed. It remains in overall very good condition. Dimensions:  $15 \times$  $9.5 \times 5 \text{ cm}$  (6"  $\times 3 \frac{3}{4}$ "  $\times 2$ ") of the Lost Ark. Wall pieces decorated the interior of the Temple of the Chachapoyan Warriors in Peru, where Indy (Harrison Ford) retrieved the golden fertility idol during the film's opening sequence. One of the temple's various booby traps shot darts out of two walls as Indy made his escape with the idol.

The set for the temple's interior was built on Stage 4 at Elstree Studios, and the darts were created by mechanical effects supervisor Kit West, who won the Academy Award® for Best Visual Effects for his work on the film, alongside Richard Edlund, Bruce Nicholson Estimate: £8,000 - 12,000

A Peruvian temple dart wall piece from Steven Spielberg's action adventure Raiders and Joe Johnston. There are no intentional holes in this particular wall piece, suggesting that darts were not shot from it.

> Made of fibrous plaster, the wall piece features a "God of Light" face and is hand-painted to resemble grey stone. Faux moss is applied all over to create an ancient and decrepit look. Intentionally distressed for the production, the wall piece displays areas of light paint wear. Dimensions: 38 cm x 38 cm x 13 cm (15" x 15" x 5 1/4")

186. Thuggee Guard SFX Sword м

INDIANA JONES AND THE TEMPLE OF DOOM (1984)

A Thuggee guard SFX sword from Steven Spielberg's action-adventure sequel Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom. This particular sword has a broad blade and was carried by one of the guards encountered by Indiana Jones (Harrison Ford) before the climactic rope bridge sequence. It was specifically created for the scene where Indy whipped the sword from a guard's hand.

The sword comprises a metal blade covered in silver-coloured tape, and a fibreglass hilt finished in brown paint to resemble wood. A small hole is visible underneath the tape near the grip; this was to secure the whip, allowing the sword to be quickly snatched. A loop of rope is tied around the hilt, which meant the sword could be attached to the performer's wrist. There are notable signs of production use, including paint wear on the handle and scuffing to the tape, notably exposing the metal on one side of the blade. Dimensions: 85 cm x 9 cm x 4.5 cm (33 ½" x 3 ½" x 1 ¾")

199. James Bond's (Sean Connery) Screen-Matched Suit м

JAMES BOND: YOU ONLY LIVE TWICE (1967)

James Bond's (Sean Connery) screen-matched suit from Lewis Gilbert's Bond movie You Only Live Twice. Bond wore his suit in multiple scenes, from his arrival in Tokyo and his encounter with secret service agent Aki (Akiko Wakabayashi), up until Tiger Tanaka (Tetsur? Tamba) welcomed him into his home. A distinctive pinch in the jacket's left shoulder screen matches it to the moment Bond met sumo wrestler Sadanoyama Shinmatsu.

It is rare for examples of Sean Connery suits to come up for auction, as many were taken from the set by the actor after producer Albert "Cubby" Broccoli stated he could keep any of the costumes he requested. This lot was initially obtained by a crew member, to whom it was likely offered for sale when production wrapped.

The grey herringbone woollen two-piece suit was custom-made by tailor Anthony Sinclair, who created clothing for all of Sean Connery's appearances as 007. The jacket features two button fastenings and three pockets on the front. An Anthony Sinclair label with handwritten blue text reading "July. 1966, S. Connery. Esq, 464 – 5468 Repeat" is located in the jacket's interior right-breast pocket. An additional label reading "May 1966, It., S. Connery Esq, g., F456As5468/bm18h.b." is sewn into the trousers.

The suit's white cotton dress shirt and black knit tie are reproductions constructed by Turnbull & Asser, the same company that originally made the garments for the movie. Completing the display is a pair of smart black shoes. The suit displays minor signs of production use and age.

200. Colibri-made Wooden Golden Gun Master Model M

JAMES BOND: THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN GUN (1974)

The Colibri-made wooden master model of Scaramanga's titular Golden Gun from the production of Guy Hamilton's Bond film The Man with the Golden Gun. Francisco Scaramanga (Christopher Lee) used his golden gun – constructed from innocuous, everyday items – to assassinate his victims.

This wooden model was made by Colibri, a company which primarily manufactures cigarette lighters and jewellery. Colibri is credited with making the iconic gun seen in the film.

This model was used as Colibri's master template for the iconic weapon, which also featured heavily in the promotional campaign for the film and has since become one of the most famous and recognizable weapons in cinematic history.

After the production, it was gifted to the set designer responsible for the creation of Scaramanga's kitchen.

The model is constructed from several wooden pieces, which are shaped like the items used in the film and glued together. It is accompanied by its original envelope, which has "Fragile Handle With Care ---007 Golden Gun Mock-Up/Property of 'Colibri" handwritten in red ink on the front. The gun model has only very minor wear from production use and age, but it remains in a fragile condition, while the envelope has creasing, small tears and staining. A full-size ABC Warrior Robot with an animatronic remote-control head from Danny The full-size ABC Warrior was engineered by a team consisting of Mike Dunleavy, Robert Cannon's sci-fi adventure Judge Dredd. Discovered in the possession of the arms dealer war against the Judges.

The robot features many scuffs and signs of battle damage that screen match it to the scene in which Rico used it to threaten Judge Griffin (Jürgen Prochnow), and to the moment Rico commanded it to wreak havoc on the streets of Mega-City One. It also screen matches the moment the droid dismembered Judge Griffin, and the final scenes in which it shot Fergie (Rob Schneider) and grabbed Judge Hershey (Diane Lane) by the throat.

The ABC Warriors comic series appeared alongside Judge Dredd in the British sci-fi anthology comic-book 2000 AD, making its debut in issue 119 in 1979. The leader of the ABC Warriors, Hammerstein, had been a running character in previous series Ro-Busters, which first appeared in weekly sci-fi comic magazine Starlord (1978) and again in 2000 AD later the same year. In 1995, series creator Pat Mills wrote a story for Judge Dredd entitled "Hammerstein". The introduction of the character to the Dredd universe sparked the idea for the addition of the unnamed ABC Warrior in the movie adaptation, using a design similar to the Hammerstein character

Malos, Brian Morrison, Paul Taylor, Robbie Scott, Peter White and Joss Williams. It has a Geiger (lan Dury) by the recently escaped Rico (Armand Assante), the ABC Warrior was maneuverable metal internal structure surrounded by cables, rubber and metal tubing. programmed to follow only Rico's commands, and was used to devastating effect in his Fibreglass armour plating covers the robot's frame, creating its menacing appearance. The armour, hands, head and feet have been painted with a metallic grey undercoat and a rust-coloured top coat, allowing the top coat to be scratched away to reveal metallic grey beneath, giving the impression of battle damage and age. The robot's neck, eyes and jaw are manipulated using a remote control, which features a handwritten label reading "Dread Neck", and the eyes light up orange, changing to red when the robot is in "War Mode". The controller comes with charging cables.

> The robot is presented in an imposing stance, secured on a stand. It shows minor wear from production use and age, displaying signs of slight internal rust, repaired components on the hands and sympathetic restoration over the years since the production. This statue was created using the 3D renders for the computer-generated "super punch" effect during the climactic fight between Agent Smith and Neo (Keanu Reeves), and was gifted to a senior member of the production when filming wrapped.

The bust is made of fibreglass infused with metal powder to create a faux-bronze finish. Made to 1:1 scale, its cheek is firmly imprinted with the shape of Neo's fist, with Smith's face and jaw distorted from the power of the impact. The name of credited sculptor Belinda Villani is etched on the back and the bust's interior is marked "#2" in black ink. There is minor chipping on the right side of the hair. Dimensions: 23 cm x 35 cm x 40 cm (9" x 13 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 15 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

246. Terry Gilliam Sketch and Seven Hand-drawn Costume Designs Ω

MONTY PYTHON'S: THE MEANING OF LIFE (1983)

A Terry Gilliam sketch and seven hand-drawn costume designs from Terry Jones' comedy movie Monty Python's The Meaning of Life.

Gilliam's pencil drawing depicts the Zulu warrior who appears at the end of the "Tiger" sketch, before unzipping his skin to reveal an announcer, played by Gilliam. The seven sketches are rendered in pencil on paper, and are signed by Academy Award®-winning costume designer James Acheson. One, showing Gilliam as Bo Peep, is also coloured in pencil.

Each of the costume designs has the film's title and the name of the character and actor written in pencil. Some of the sketches feature additional notes on the materials and construction of the costumes. Five have a card backing, and the Gilliam sketch is adhered with tape to one of the other sketches. The designs have minor wear from use and age, including some smudges and discolouration. Dimensions (each costume design): 42.5 cm x 30 cm (16 <sup>3</sup>⁄<sub>4</sub>" x 11 <sup>3</sup>⁄<sub>4</sub>")

Sold without copyright; see copyright notice in the Buyer's Guide.

249. Robot м

MOTHER RILEY MEETS THE VAMPIRE (1952) AND THE AVENGERS (1967)

The robot from John Gilling's horror comedy Mother Riley Meets the Vampire. Von Housen (Bela Lugosi) created the robot to be part of a 50,000-strong robot army, but it was accidentally shipped to Old Mother Riley (Arthur Lucan). The robot later appeared in The Avengers episode "The See-Through Man" in Quilby's (Roy Kinnear) lab.

The robot features a metal head with a glass dome; metal torso, hips, and pincers; arms and legs made predominantly of wood and rubber; and a plastic screen on the torso, behind which faux wiring can be seen. Most of the body has been painted silver. The dome is not original to the 1952 production, and was replaced for The Avengers, while the robot has wear from age, production-use and storage. The paint is scuffed and scratched in places, the rubber on the arms and legs is misshapen , and there is minor corrosion and rust on parts of the metal. Dimensions: 48 cm x 120 cm x 213 cm (19" x 47 1/4" x 83 3/4")

250. Clint Eastwood-autographed Earl Stone Ford F250 Custom US

MULE, THE (2018)

A Clint Eastwood-autographed Ford F250 Custom from Eastwood's crime thriller The Mule. 90-year-old Stone (Eastwood) used his truck throughout the film to transport first gardening supplies and later drugs he trafficked for the Cartel.

This two-toned brown and cream yellow 1972 Ford F250 Custom pick-up truck comes from actor Ignacio Serrichio, who played Julio in the film and acquired the truck directly from production company Kiki Tree Pictures Inc. It is fitted with a Camper Special package with vehicle identification number F25YRN43949 and comes with California licence plate numbered "74322E2." The interior dashboard is signed in black marker by Eastwood, and the back windshield is affixed with a variety of stickers, including one for Eastwood's own Escape from Alcatraz (1979).

Following production, this vehicle received an oil change and windshield wiper fluid was added. It exhibits significant signs of age and use, including rusted metal components throughout, grime, peeling stickers, and some warping to the interior leather. As this is a functioning vehicle, legal transfer of title will need to take place before delivery can be arranged. Additionally, as the vehicle is also located in the United States, transportation and shipping quotes including fluid drainage for international shipping - should be arranged with Prop Store prior to bidding. Dimensions: 548.75 cm x 188 cm x 183 cm (216" x 74" x 72")

258. Hand-painted Final UK Quad Artwork MAR

NEAR DARK (1987)

A hand-painted final UK quad artwork from the promotion of Kathryn Bigelow's horror Western Near Dark. The UK quad was designed by Marcus Silversides and Mike Harris, with Harris' face and hands appearing on the poster; graphic designers often posed for reference shots if photographic stills from the movie were low quality, or if the budget was insufficient.

Rendered in gouache on board with some oil paint applied to the hands, this artwork shows a pale vampire surrounded by beams of light, two of which are piercing his hands, with small silhouettes of a vampire family at the bottom of the composition. The painting is in good overall condition, with several marks and tape remnants around the edges. The bottom right corner of the board is torn. 263. Freddy Krueger's (Robert Englund) Razor Finger Glove  $\alpha$

A NIGHTMARE ON ELM STREET 3: DREAM WARRIORS (1987)

Freddy Krueger's (Robert Englund) razor finger glove from Chuck Russell's fantasy-horror sequel A Nightmare on Elm Street 3: Dream Warriors.

Freddy wielded his infamous razor glove throughout the film series as his primary weapon. Each of the films in the franchise featured an alternate design for Freddy's glove, and one went missing from the production of Russell's film, only to appear on the wall of the work shed in Sam Raimi's Evil Dead II as a form of banter between Raimi and Elm Street franchise creator Wes Craven.

The glove is made from brown leather, weathered and stained using polish, and features the four iconic stainless steel razors, affixed to copper finger plates. The finger blades, plates and glove back plate are fastened with copper rivets, securing the deadly blades to the glove. The piece shows intentional distress throughout to match the tarnished and villainous look of Freddy Krueger. Dimensions: 33 cm x 26.5 cm x 4 cm (13" x  $10^{1}/_{2}$ " x  $11/_{2}$ ")

268. Full-size Pale Man Display Figure $\boldsymbol{\Omega}$

PAN'S LABYRINTH (2006)

A full-size Pale Man display figure from Guillermo del Toro's dark fantasy movie Pan's Labyrinth. The Pale Man (Doug Jones) - a grotesque, child-eating monster - chased Ofelia (Ivana Baquero) through his lair after she disobeyed the faun's (also Jones) instruction not to eat the Pale Man's food.

This figure was created by DDT, the Spanish studio behind the make-up and special effects for the film, founded by Academy Award®-winners David Martí and Montse Ribe. This model is a reproduction of the one created at the behest of del Toro for the 2016 exhibition "Guillermo del Toro: At Home with Monsters" and displayed at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art. Del Toro owns the original model from the exhibition.

The figure is constructed from polyester and polyurethane resins around a metal skeleton, with clay pressed pieces from the original production moulds attached. It is finished in sculpting clay and painted with enamels and acrylics.

The model is approximately 20 cm (8") taller than the original made with Doug Jones under prosthetics in the film. Del Toro saw initial photographs of the model in its bent-legged pose and thought it looked short and less impressive, so sections of the body were lengthened specifically for the exhibition. The figure has only very minor wear. Dimensions: 90 cm x 160 cm x 190 cm  $(35 \frac{1}{2}" \times 63" \times 74 \frac{3}{4}")$

269. Full-size Faun Display Figure $\Omega$

PAN'S LABYRINTH (2006)

A full-size faun display figure from Guillermo del Toro's dark fantasy movie Pan's Labyrinth. The faun (Doug Jones) acted as Ofelia's (Ivana Baquero) guide to the mysterious labyrinth.

This figure was created by DDT, the Spanish studio behind the make-up and special effects for the film, founded by Academy Award®-winners David Martí and Montse Ribe. This model is a reproduction of the one created at the behest of del Toro for the 2016 exhibition "Guillermo del Toro: At Home with Monsters" and displayed at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art. Del Toro owns the original model from the exhibition.

The figure is constructed from polyester and polyurethane resins around a metal skeleton, with clay pressed pieces from the original production moulds attached. It is finished in sculpting clay and painted with enamels and acrylics. It also features moss, wood and other natural pieces collected from the original shoot in Segovia, Spain.

The figure comes with a bronze-and-zinc plated polyurethane dagger; a leather pouch; carved, faux-bone jewellery; and three coloured fairies, who also served as Ofelia's guides in the film. The figure has only very minor wear. Dimensions: 100 cm x 100 cm x 200 cm ( $39 V_4$ " x  $39 V_4$ " x  $78 V_4$ ")

PROMETHEUS (2012)

A Sumerian Engineer "star-map" tablet from Ridley Scott's sci-fi prequel Prometheus. Doctors Elizabeth Shaw (Noomi Rapace) and Charlie Holloway (Logan Marshall-Green) introduced their discovery of a "starmap" by showcasing iconography from several ancient cultures, including the Sumerians.

This cast resin tablet featuring human figures praying to an Engineer-like figure is painted rust red to resemble stone and distressed with grime and dust to appear ancient. Its sides and corners are chipped by production with various scratches and scuffs throughout. Dimensions: 25.5 cm x 26.75 cm x 1.5 cm (10" x 10  $\frac{1}{2}$ " x  $\frac{1}{2}$ ")

276. Light-up Prometheus Full Bridge Set Us

PROMETHEUS (2012)

A light-up starship Prometheus bridge set from Ridley Scott's sci-fi thriller Prometheus. Captain Janek (Idris Elba) and his crew piloted the Prometheus, a scientific vessel on a mission funded by the Weyland Corporation, from their bridge consoles. The bridge was inspired by an unused Ron Cobb design from the original Alien and was updated with modern consoles and graphics. This impressive multi-component set includes the key bridge elements made from wood, metal, fibreglass and perspex: a standing Captain's console; two front pilot Consoles with chairs; two rear consoles with chairs; one Captain's navigation double console; four operator's screens; three hanging wall console units with additional detail panels; and a set of rubber floor panels.

Each console features a series of video screens which run custom motion graphics from a series of DVD players incorporated into the units. The motion graphics are the same videos featured in the film. The paneling is heavily detailed with interactive buttons, switches, and knobs, many of which illuminate. These beautifully-designed consoles play heavily in the film and are highly impressive when illuminated. The four chairs, one for each single-width console, are made of fiberglass and wood with padded seats, headrests, and strap-and-harness systems. This lot is worn and shows age, including various scrapes and small cracks throughout, damage to one wall unit, and a number of missing small knob and button details on several consoles. Larger elements missing include a chair's single seatbelt strap; an insert panel on a wall unit; a gaming keypad for one console; and a missing black trackball control on another. Multiple DVD players must be started in order to run the screen graphics; the smallest video screens currently lack video sources though these could be added. In total, these impressive components are a substantial size—inquire for shipping details.

Dimensions (control panel, largest): 203.25 cm x 223.75 cm x 112 cm (80" x 88" x 44"); (background panel, largest): 40.75 cm x 188 cm x 106.75 cm (16" x 74" x 42"); (chairs, each): 139.75 cm x 76.25 cm x 137.25 cm (55" x 30" x 54")

277. Vincent Vega's (John Travolta) Jeans м

PULP FICTION (1994)

Vincent Vega's (John Travolta) jeans from Quentin Tarantino's neo-noir movie Pulp Fiction. Vincent wore black jeans in multiple scenes throughout the film, including the iconic dance sequence where he and Mia Wallace (Uma Thurman) competed in a twist contest at Jack Rabbit Slim's restaurant. This pair of jeans was originally obtained by a production crew member.

Labelled as a size 38, the Calvin Klein® jeans are washed black cotton denim and feature a metal button and zip fly. They exhibit signs of production use, including some loose threads, signs of fraying around the hems and light marks on the back. The lot is accompanied by a letter of authenticity detailing its history.

RED DWARF (TV SERIES, 1988-PRESENT)

A model miniature of Starbug 1 from the sci-fi comedy television show Red Dwarf. The notoriously unreliable Starbug shuttles first appeared in Series III and were the crew's primary mode of transportation to different planets, although they were often crashed by the crew.

The miniature model is made of resin and has a hand-painted green finish, with additional detailing and intentional distress applied to make the craft look well used.

The craft resembles an insect, with three bulbous sections, four landing legs, and rocket thrusters on the rear. Decals reading "Starbug 1" are applied to the front and rear sections on each side of the ship, and "1" transfers are applied to the top of the ship's central compartment and on its fins. A clear canopy covers the cockpit, and the rear of the body has a square hole where a rod was placed to support the model during filming. The model has very minor wear from production use and age, including scuffing, scratches and a couple of small areas of paint wear, most notably on the rear. Dimensions: 40 cm x 40 cm x 26 cm (15 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 15 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 10 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

281. The Rocketeer's (Bill Campbell) Stunt Helmet м

THE ROCKETEER (1991)

The Rocketeer's (Bill Campbell) stunt helmet from Joe Johnston's action-adventure film The Rocketeer. This helmet was attached to a stunt dummy used for shots showing the flying hero bouncing across a pond, before eventually crashing into a bank after saving someone's life at Bigelow's Air Circus.

The resin helmet is finished in gold paint. It features a long fin adhered to the top, a pair of tinted acrylic eye lenses, and a grill located at the mouth. Faux metal nuts are dotted around the lenses, and the helmet's interior is painted black, which has chipped away in some places. There are signs of production use still present on the helmet, including scuffing to the paint finish, glue remnants on the lenses, and a screw hole on the back from when it was mounted to the dummy. The impact of the dummy hitting the bank during filming caused notable damage to the rear of the helmet, and there is a crack near the mouth's right side. Dimensions: 47 cm x 23 cm x 28 cm (18 ½" x 9" x 11")

282. Buzzsaw's (Gus Rethwisch) Costume м

THE RUNNING MAN (1987)

Buzzsaw's (Gus Rethwisch) costume from Paul Michael Glaser's dystopian action film The Running Man. Buzzsaw wore his costume as he hunted Ben Richards (Arnold Schwarzenegger), before Richards bisected him with his own chainsaw.

The costume consists of a helmet; a black vest; a black string top; a pair of black trousers labelled "Running Man Gus Rethwisch Buzzsaw"; a wide, silver-painted belt which reads "Buzzsaw" in large letters; a pair of leather boots; a pair of gloves; a pair of leather armguards; and a set of bolas. The gloves are not original and have been added to complete the costume.

The "Buzzsaw" belt has two leather and metal attachments, one down each side, where he holstered his chainsaws. The bolas comprise of rope attached to a baseball and a softball, all of which are painted silver. The costume has some wear from production use and age, including scuffing and scratches on the belt, boots and bolas.

Estimate: £4,000 - 6,000

SAVING PRIVATE RYAN (1998)

Private James Ryan's (Matt Damon) helmet from Steven Spielberg's war drama Saving Private Ryan. Ryan wore his helmet while an Army ranger team led by Captain Miller (Tom Hanks) tracked him down to inform him that all three of his brothers had been killed in battle.

This olive green helmet features a fibreglass exterior and separate liner with a leatherette and brass chinstrap. Grey spades, emblems of the 101st Airborne division, are painted on the sides, and the helmet is covered in a moss green scrim net with tears on the top and side. "PVT RYAN" is handwritten on a white tape label affixed to the interior. The helmet exhibits signs of wear from age and use. Dimensions: 28 cm x 23 cm x 30.5 cm (11" x 9" x 8")

Estimate: £6,000 - 8,000

285. Captain Miller's (Tom Hanks) Hero Thompson Sub-machine Gun м

SAVING PRIVATE RYAN (1998)

Captain Miller's (Tom Hanks) hero Thompson sub-machine gun from Steven Spielberg's World War II drama Saving Private Ryan. Captain Miller used his weapon throughout the film, from the D-Day landing on Omaha Beach, to the final, climactic battle in the streets of Ramelle, in which Miller and his platoon defended the bridge from the advancing German army.

The firearm is a Thompson M1 sub-machine gun (also known as a "Tommy Gun"), chambered in .45 ACP, with a magazine capacity of 30 rounds. It has been sympathetically deactivated. Actor Tom Hanks personally picked the gun at the start of production, intentionally choosing the 13th gun along the rack – "A13", its amoury code, is handwritten in black marker pen on the wooden grip underneath the barrel, just next to the front sling swivel. When work began on Hanks and Spielberg's TV series Band of Brothers, Colin Hanks chose the exact same weapon as his father, for his role as Lieutenant Henry Jones.

The action is made of steel, while the stock, pistol grip and front grip are made of walnut wood. The gun features a brown canvas shoulder strap. It is likely that the current magazine is not the same as the one used during production. The Thompson comes directly from the production armourer who handled it on set, and includes a letter from the armourer detailing its history, as well as a deactivation certificate and the original plastic armoury tag. The piece has some wear from extensive production use and age, as well as intentional distress applied to make it look well-used and worn. There is scratching and scuffing all over the weapon, most noticeably on the wooden sections. Dimensions: 86 cm x 5.5 cm x 26.5 cm  $(34^{\circ} \times 2 \frac{1}{4^{\circ}} \times 10^{\circ})$

286. "Shield" Sculpture † AR

SCHOONY

A "Shield" sculpture by the artist Schoony. This statue was donated by Schoony to the UK children's charity NSPCC, and is one of eight he produced for his sculpture "Shield". Schoony's background is in film special effects and prosthetics, but since 2008 he has become known as a pioneering sculptor and street artist.

The sculpture depicts a barefoot young girl – modelled after the artist's daughter – carrying a broken, circular Captain America style shield, which is blank in some other iterations of the statue. According to the artist, the shield is "protecting her from the world". The sculpture is made of fibreglass covered in shimmering black prismatic paint and stands on a small wooden base. It has very little wear, and is accompanied with a certificate of authenticity handwritten, signed and dated by Schoony. The lot is being sold with no reserve. Dimensions: 50 cm x 40 cm x 112 cm (19  $\frac{34}{7}$  x 15  $\frac{34}{7}$  x 44")

All hammer-price proceeds from this item are being donated to the NSPCC.

287. Viola de Lesseps' (Gwyneth Paltrow) Juliet Costume †A

SHAKESPEARE IN LOVE (1998)

Viola de Lesseps' (Gwyneth Paltrow) Juliet costume from John Madden's period comedy-drama Shakespeare in Love. Viola wore her costume towards the film's end, playing Juliet opposite William Shakespeare (Joseph Fiennes) as Romeo. Paltrow also wore the outfit in publicity photos to promote the movie.

The costume's centrepiece is a beige velvet overgown with a gold-coloured swirling heart-like pattern. The bodice section features sewn-in boning and is laced at the front and back. Additional matching cape-like pieces are attached to both shoulders, and there is a gold-trimmed train at the rear of the skirt, onto which a wrist loop is adhered.

The costume also comprises separate two-part sleeves, which are tied together via gold cord; a crinkled chiffon-like undershirt featuring decorative pearls; an ornate metal belt decorated with faux precious stones; a heavily embroidered underskirt; a pair of woollen stockings; and a pair of patterned brocade heeled shoes.

There are minor signs of wear, including fraying, loose threads and some cracking on the gold pattern. A small hole is present on one stocking, and the gold trim on the skirt train has come loose in places. The costume is presented on a custommade display. Dimensions (displayed): 75 cm x 50 cm x 165 cm (29 ½" x 19 ¾" x 65")

289. Headless Horseman's (Ray Park) Tunic м

SLEEPY HOLLOW (1999)

The Headless Horseman's (Ray Park) tunic from Tim Burton's fantasy horror Sleepy Hollow. The Headless Horseman wore his tunic throughout the film as he haunted the town of Sleepy Hollow, with his costume decaying as the film progressed.

Created by renowned costume designer Colleen Atwood, the sleeveless tunic is made from a combination of distressed faux leather and black velour. The front displays a silver-coloured double-headed dragon emblem, with a wax layer that produces a realistic decomposition effect. Two small poppers and two hook-andeye fastenings are located around the neckline, and lacing runs down the back. An MBA Ltd. London label reading "Ray Parks 13351, Headless Horseman Fight Dbl, Sleepy Hollow" is sewn to the lining, and the text "Par." is written near the label. The tunic is intentionally distressed and displays light signs of fraying.

Estimate: £5,000 - 7,000

288. Production-made Final Scene Photo м

THE SHINING (1980)

A production-made final scene photograph from Stanley Kubrick's horror film The Shining. The concluding moments of the movie showed a wall of old photographs, with one, taken in 1921, revealing a young Jack Torrance (Jack Nicholson) at a party in the ballroom.

Multiple variations of the photograph were created for the production for Kubrick to review. The differences between the images included the size, framing, margins and even some of the people photographed. This example is one of the alternative versions which did not appear in the final cut, and is testament to Kubrick's attention to detail. The black-and-photograph shows Nicholson's face superimposed onto a figure at the front. The lot exhibits minor damage in the bottom left corner, a small tear along the top edge and minor foxing in the top left corner. Dimensions: 24 cm x 30.5 cm (9 ½" x 12")

Estimate: £4,000 - 6,000

290. Original Screen-matched Large-scale Eagle Transporter Filming Miniature м

SPACE: 1999 (T.V. SERIES, 1975-1977)

The original, screen-matched, large-scale Eagle Transporter model miniature from the sci-fi television series Space: 1999. In the year 1999, nuclear waste stored on the Moon exploded, propelling it into deep space and stranding the 311 inhabitants of Moonbase Alpha. Eagles were the primary spacecraft on Moonbase Alpha, used for exploration, transportation and combat. This transporter appeared in 45 of Space: 1999's 48 episodes, making it the most screen-used model of the series, and it screen-matches the Eagle seen in series finale "The Dorcons", through its markings and details on the bottom of the footpads. It was also used in nine of the 11 crash-landing sequences, meaning it had to be repeatedly rebuilt and repaired. In recent years it has been lovingly and carefully restored by master model maker David Sisson.

Husband-and-wife team Gerry and Sylvia Anderson created the live-action show Space: 1999, having previously collaborated on their "Supermarionation" puppet-based shows, including Thunderbirds, Captain Scarlet and the Mysterons and Joe 90. For Space: 1999, they drew visual inspiration from Stanley Kubrick's 2001: A Space Odyssey. Special effects designer and Academy Award®-winner Brian Johnson, who had worked on 2001, designed the Eagle Transporters. They were built in four sizes: 44", 22", 11" and 5" in length. Although two other 44" models were eventually built, this is the original 44" model used primarily for medium and close-up photography – such as take-off, landing and crashing shots – and appeared prominently in the show's opening credits.

The model is made largely of resin and wood, with a brass frame, moveable metal feet and propulsion engines on its underside. The passenger pod is hand-painted in varying shades of grey, giving the impression of different panels. It has four doors, one on each side, which do not open. Small transfers, featuring serial numbers and the Moonbase Alpha insignia, give added detail and realism. The model's various sections are detachable, including the feet, main frame, pod, and cockpit, which reveals two model pilots when removed. Sisson repaired the brass frame holding the Eagle together, stripping it down and resoldering it. He also stripped down paintwork which had been applied subsequent to production, revealing original detailing, before carefully applying new paintwork in some areas.

The model is accompanied by a storage crate and a letter of authenticity from Sisson, explaining the model's remarkable history and extensive use on the production. ### 291. Maya's (Catherine Schell) Transformation Creature Costume м

Maya's (Catherine Schell) transformation creature costume from the sci-fi television series Space: 1999. Maya was a shape-shifting Psychon alien who transformed into various creatures during the second season. This costume was reused in many episodes, with parts of it being repainted, and different latex appliances added to the head to achieve the multiple characters. This costume was then displayed in Blackpool in a Space City exhibition once filming had completed.

Made of foam and rubber, the creature costume is painted mainly green and consists of a head featuring eye holes; a separate torso piece with affixed arms; a long tail; and a pair of legs with webbed feet. The back features an exposed zip and is decorated with various fins and strands of black faux hair, while Velcro® strips are present around the neck.

The costume comes mounted on the exhibition's original wooden stand and shows signs of flaking and cracking to the paint finish. There is a split present on the inside of one hand and also on the back of the right foot. Dimensions: 55 cm x 74 cm x 166 cm (21 ½" x 29 ¼" x 65 ¼")

Special shipping required; see special shipping notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: £5,000 - 7,000

293. Stunt DARPA Armour and Rifle Ω

SPECTRAL (2016)

Stunt DARPA Armour and rifle from Nic Mathieu's paranormal action film Spectral. DARPA (Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency) soldiers wore their armour and used their rifles to fight the hyperspectral anomalies at the film's climax.

The costume consists of a thick top with faux leather detailing and a pair of combat trousers (both labelled "H1 Ivan Orsanyi"); a helmet (labelled "H1 Orsanyi Ivan"); a balaclava; a mask ("Orsanyi Ivan"); torso armour ("Ivan Orsanyi H1"); a pair of gloves ("Ivan Orsanyi H1 Stunt"); a pair of shin guards ("Ivan H1); a pair of boots ("Ivan"); and a stunt rifle. Orsányi was a stunt performer on the production.

The armour sections are made of rubber and fibreglass, and the helmet and facemask are hardened rubber. The rifle is rubber with a metal armature, and has a shoulder strap.

The costume has been intentionally distressed to appear well worn and battle-scarred. It also has some wear from use and age. The faux leather on the costume top is scratched, and the rubber around the neck of the balaclava has dried and is brittle.

STAR WARS: EP I - THE PHANTOM MENACE (1999)

Darth Maul's (Ray Park) hero lightsaber from George Lucas' Star Wars: The Phantom Menace. Darth Maul masterfully wielded his lightsaber during the final battle sequence in Theed Palace, where the Sith apprentice fought Qui-Gon Jinn (Liam Neeson) and Obi-Wan Kenobi (Ewan McGregor).

Darth Maul was skilled in the ways of the dark side, creating the saberstaff as his signature weapon. Although the double-bladed lightsaber was first seen on screen in The Phantom Menace, it originated in the comic-book series Star Wars: Tales of the Jedi.

The double-ended hilt is cast in resin, with machined-metal end caps and an internal steel core running through the weapon's body to add weight and strength. It is finished in silver paint, with shades of dark grey applied to give additional depth to the detailing throughout, including the two ribbed hand grips and parts of the bladeemitter plate. Four metallic red activator buttons and four silver control lock buttons run down the hilt's length, and there are three incorporated black rubber O-rings. The lot displays paint wear – which has exposed the resin in places – and cracking on the rubber. Dimensions: 53.5 cm x 5 cm x 5 cm (21" x 2" x 2")

321. Senator Bail Organa's (Jimmy Smits) Hero Blaster Ω

STAR WARS: EP III - REVENGE OF THE SITH (2005)

Senator Bail Organa's (Jimmy Smits) hero blaster from George Lucas' Star Wars: Revenge of the Sith. Organa carried his blaster in his holster when Order 66 was given, and the clone troopers turned against the Jedi. It also appears on page 186 of "Star Wars: The Complete Visual Dictionary", which indicates that Organa's weapon fired only incapacitating bolts, rather than lethal ones.

The blaster has a resin handle, a chrome-plated barrel and a metal, spring-loaded trigger. It comes in a black, foam-padded carrying case with a shiny silver sticker on the lid bearing the film's title. It is also accompanied by several behind-the-scenes photos of its construction and a promotional still of Organa holding it. The blaster has some wear from production use and age, including scuffing to the resin grip, tarnishing to the trigger mechanism, and a small crack on the barrel's underside. Dimensions: 27 cm x 4.5 cm x 18 cm (10  $\frac{12}{2}$  x 1  $\frac{3}{4}$  x 7")

322. Stuart Freeborn Collection: Production C-3PO Face Casting м

STAR WARS: ORIGINAL TRILOGY (1977-83)

A C-3PO face casting from the original Star Wars trilogy. This lot was originally obtained from the collection of legendary make-up artist Stuart Freeborn, who created several creatures in the Star Wars saga.

The casting is made of fibreglass and is painted in C-3PO's distinctive gold. It features two empty eye sockets and a small mouth slit, and remnants of foam are present on the lower half of the interior. The face remains in a fragile state and shows wear and age. There is minor paint wear, light scuffing and damage to the left eye hole, while the outer edge of the casting is delicate. Dimensions: 28 cm x 15 cm x 11 cm (11" x 5 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 4 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

Estimate: £2,000 - 3,000

323. C-3PO (Anthony Daniels) Foot Cover м

STAR WARS: EP IV - A NEW HOPE (1977)

A C-3PO (Anthony Daniels) foot cover from George Lucas' Star Wars: A New Hope. Daniels wore foot covers as part of C-3PO's distinctive costume throughout the film. Vacuum-formed shoe covers were used exclusively for the first movie – the sequels employed cast rubber boots.

Made from vacuum-formed plastic, the foot features various rigid detailing and remnants of a gold-plated finish. There is an opening present at the back and the sole is missing, which was the case with C-3PO's costume during the production of A New Hope; Daniels wore a canvas undershoe and the cover was attached over the top. A set of feet with soles were not created until the famous footprint ceremony at Mann's Chinese theatre on 5 August 1997, when the character was immortalised in cement alongside Darth Vader and R2-D2. A majority of the plated finish has worn away over time and the shape is slightly distorted from previous storage. The lot exhibits scuffing, dirt remnants on the interior, and minor cracks along the bottom edge. Dimensions: 30 cm x 13 cm x 11 cm (11  $\frac{3}{4}$ " x 5  $\frac{1}{4}$ " x 4  $\frac{1}{4}$ ")

STAR WARS: EP IV - A NEW HOPE (1977)

A Harry Lange hand-drawn concept piece from the production of George Lucas' Star Wars: A New Hope. The artwork shows an early concept design for a Millennium Falcon laser cannon, which Luke Skywalker (Mark Hamill) and Han Solo (Harrison Ford) used to battle Imperial fighters. Production designer and art director Harry Lange was a pioneer in his field, whose designs helped shape the modern sci-fi landscape through such movies as 2001: A Space Odyssey, Star Wars and The Dark Crystal.

The artwork is rendered in pencil on tracing paper and has been displayed in a custom-made frame. It has minor wear to the edges, discolouration and smudge marks. Dimensions (display): 60 cm x 60 cm x 5 cm (23 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>" x 23 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>" x 2")

A Hoth Rebel trooper pistol from Irvin Kershner's Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back. Soldiers fighting for the Rebel Alliance used their blaster pistols to defend themselves from the Empire's assault on the Rebel base on the planet Hoth.

The blaster pistol is made of primarily fibreglass, based on the combined body of an AR-7 with the grip of a Sterling L2A3, painted black, with a nonfunctional fibreglass scope attached to the top and a flared grey metal muzzle piece based on the finned rear of a mortar shell. The back of the scope shows evidence of a production repair, with a washer being installed to give it shape. The front of the scope features a small reflective lens. It also exhibits scuffs in the black paint and a puncture through one side of the gun. Dimensions: 38 cm x 18 cm x 5.25 cm (15" x 7" x 2")

333. C-3PO's (Anthony Daniels) Hand м

STAR WARS: EP V - THE EMPIRE STRIKES BACK (1980)

C-3PO's (Anthony Daniels) hand from Irvin Kershner's Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back. As the loquacious protocol droid, Daniels wore mechanical-looking gloves throughout the film. The C-3PO costume was heavily revised following the production of Star Wars: A New Hope, with the hands changing from their original vacuum-formed plastic construction to simpler one-piece gloves in cast urethane.

This moulded urethane glove is plated in C-3PO's distinctive silver and bronze colouring. Mechanical ridged detailing adorns the knuckles, joints and back of the hand, and yellow, red and white-painted cables run down the fingers towards the black-painted palm. There is an intentional split on the wrist, with a pair of metal snaps affixed, which allowed Daniels to put the hand on comfortably. The glove shows some signs of wear and production use, but remains in good condition considering its age. It exhibits marks, cracking and flaking to the reflective paint finish, and the colour has worn away in places, notably around the knuckles, revealing the urethane beneath. Light corrosion is present on the metal studs, but the urethane remains malleable. Dimensions: 24 cm x 14.5 cm x 7 cm (9 ½" x  $5 \frac{3}{4}$ " x  $2 \frac{3}{4}$ ")

STAR WARS: EP VI - RETURN OF THE JEDI (1983)

A Death Star Gun Tower model miniature from Richard Marquand's Star Wars: Return of the Jedi. Gun towers covered the Death Star's surface and constantly fired at the attacking Rebel pilots during the film's climax.

Constructed by Industrial Light and Magic from biscuit foam and resin, the grey painted gun tower features a futuristic industrial design with grid lines carved into the sides to simulate a panelled construction. While static, the top portion of the gun tower is shaped to resemble a rotating gun turret and has two laser cannons mounted at the top. Below the turret, the body of the gun tower stretches to a wider base for stability. The model remains in good overall condition, with light wear and damage to the gun tips. ### 340. Stormtrooper Helmet †

STAR WARS: EP VI - RETURN OF THE JEDI (1983)

A stormtrooper helmet from Richard Marquand's Star Wars: Return of the Jedi. Imperial stormtroopers wore their standard-issue helmets throughout the film as they served the Galactic Empire, notably during the climactic Battle of Endor. Stormtroopers now rank among the most recognisable movie characters of all time.

It is estimated that only around 50 helmets were produced for Return of the Jedi, with slight modifications and a somewhat more flattened appearance than the designs seen in the previous two films.

The main body of the helmet is constructed from vacuum-formed ABS plastic. Several striped decals are applied to the helmet's cheeks and temple. The chin and mouth vent are finished in black paint, and a black rubber trim runs along the brow and around the neck opening. Two wooden mics, which display remnants of their original black paint finish, are fitted either side of the chin, but are missing their metallic tips.

The helmet's interior features an elastic chinstrap and a plastic headband with foam applied for comfort. A pair of replica green-coloured acrylic eye lenses have been fitted for display purposes, and the helmet comes with a custom-made stand. One side of the helmet varies slightly in color to the other, due to a period of exposure to sunlight when on display to promote the film, a corner of one decal on the left cheek has begun to peel, and the chin strap has begun to fray. ### 344. X-wing Blocking Shot Model Miniature м

STAR WARS: EP VI - RETURN OF THE JEDI (1983)

A blocking shot miniature X-wing used during the production of Richard Marquand's Star Wars: Return of the Jedi. The technicians at Industrial Light and Magic used this detailed model to help plan the film's intricate special effects sequences. Early on in the production process, simple models like this were used to block out shots and produce "videomatics" – an early form of pre-visualisation.

The model is constructed from a commercially available plastic kit and is detailed as Red Five, the fighter piloted by Luke Skywalker (Mark Hamill). It is presented on a display stand simulating the X-wing in flight. Acquired from the collection of visual effects artist Richard Edlund, it has been intentionally distressed to appear battle-scarred, and the display base has some minor chips to the corners. This display features a grey, semi-circular piece of the Death Star, mounted above a plaque which reads "1983 Star Wars / Creativity Contest / Death Star Model Piece". The display is set under glass within the original wooden frame. It comes with a letter of authenticity from the original winner of the piece, explaining how they won it in a Star Wars Fan Club competition. The piece itself has minor wear from production use and the display has some light surface scratches. Dimensions (Death Star piece): 7.5 cm x 14.5 cm x 1 cm (3" x 5 ¾" x ¼"); (display): 28.5 cm x 34.5 cm x 4 cm (11 ¼" x 13 ½" x 1½")

348. Promotional DNA Productions Darth Vader Tour Costume м

STAR WARS: ORIGINAL TRILOGY VHS RELEASE (1995)

A Darth Vader touring costume used to promote the release of George Lucas' Star Wars Trilogy on videotape. The promotional costume was crafted by former LucasFilm archivist Don Bies and his wife Anna of DNA Productions in 1995 for distributor Fox Studios.

The costume comprises a vacuum-formed plastic helmet and fibreglass mask; a stretch fabric collar; a full-length cape and under-robe; vacuum-formed plastic chest armour with attached pauldrons; a fibreglass chest control box; a tunic featuring faux leather sleeves; a pair of gloves; a leather belt featuring three control boxes; a padded leather codpiece; a pair of faux leather trousers; and a pair of leather boots with attached plastic shin guards.

Each glove has a DNA Productions label sewn to its interior with "#7" handwritten in blue ink. Clipped onto the belt's left side is a cast resin lightsaber, based on a casting of the "Energizer Bunny" lightsaber used in the infamous 1994 Energizer commercial. The chest and belt boxes contain internal electronics that illuminate various buttons, including three red lights on the chest, which light up in sequence. One belt box contains a circuit board that once projected the Sith Lord's breath sounds. The electronics were designed and built by former ILM model maker and Mythbuster Grant Imahara.

There are signs of wear and age, with some minor damage present on the mask. The costume comes presented on a custom-made mannequin and is supplied with an external 12V power supply. This is believed to be the first example of this style of touring costume to come to auction. Dimensions (displayed):  $37 \text{ cm} \times 69 \text{ cm} \times 10^{-1} \text{ cm}$ 209 cm (14 ½" x 27 ¼" x 82 ¼")

349. Light-up R2-M80/KR2-M80/R2-F1P Remote Control Droid M

STAR WARS: ROGUE ONE: A STAR WARS STORY (2016) AND SOLO: A STAR WARS STORY (2018)

A light-up R2-M80/KR2-M80/R2-F1P remote control droid from Gareth Edwards' Rogue One: A Star Wars Story and Ron Howard's Solo: A Star Wars Story.

This astromech droid appeared as three different droids across the two films. R2-M80 can be seen in the Alliance base hanger in the Great Temple on Yavin 4 as the pilots run to their ships in Rogue One; KR2-M80 and R2-F1P were both in Solo, in the control room on Kessel and later outside as the slave revolt progressed, and at Coronet spaceport on Corellia, respectively. When seen as R2-F1P the droid was re-skinned in orange, as opposed to its current yellow. Hand-built by Mike Filippidis, a founding member of the UK R2 Builders Club, the droid is made predominantly from aluminium, including an all-aluminium external shell. It is intentionally distressed to look well used and it has not been cleaned since its use on the Kessel set. The name of R2-F1P is based on Filippidis' nickname "Flip". R2-M80 is never officially used as a designation, and the droid was named "Matey" by Filippidis himself.

It is driven with a Spektrum DX6i remote control and features a rotating dome and light effects, powered by a rechargeable battery. A compartment at the back slides out, revealing the battery, power switches and internal workings. Inside there are several stickers, including one detailing the scenes, dates, locations and sets the droid was used across the two films, and which droid it was for those specific scenes.

The droid can be seen on page 27 of "Rogue One: A Star Wars Story - The Official Mission Debrief", and Solo director Ron Howard tweeted out a selfie with KR2-M80 on Aug 2, 2017 with the description "These droids can be so damn intractable. But we'll go until we get it right! #UntitledHanSoloMovie". It also appeared in a photograph with Star Wars producer Kathleen Kennedy at Star Wars Celebration, with Kennedy resting her hand on the dome.

Also included in the lot are two call sheets from Solo, dated "Thursday 23rd February 2017" and "Friday 14th July 2017", displaying the film's working title of "Red Cup"; two fan club-made trading cards, featuring R2-F1P and R2-M80 in the style of classic Star Wars trading cards with feature photos and information about the droids; and a set "Droid Factory" toy droids, which includes R2-F1P. Dimensions: 66 cm x 70 cm x 106 cm

350. Set of R2-F1P Droid Decals м

STAR WARS: SOLO: A STAR WARS STORY (2018)

A set of R2-F1P droid decals from the production of Ron Howard's Solo: A Star Wars Story. This droid was first seen with yellow-coloured decals as R2-M80 in Rogue One: A Star Wars Story. It was then re-skinned in orange to become R2-F1P in Solo: A Star Wars Story and then converted back to yellow to create the KR2-M80 droid seen in later scenes.

The lot includes 53 orange-coloured self adhesive vinyl decals which have been carefully applied to three white foam display boards after filming. Two boards also feature a small image of the R2-F1P droid, clearly showing the decals affixed to its body. The decals show minor creasing and wear from removal and production use. ### 355. Sideshow Collectibles Life-size Light-up Boba Fett Figure †A

A life-size light-up figure of Boba Fett from Irvin Kershner's Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back. This highly realistic statue was created by Sideshow Collectibles, who collaborated with specialists at Tom Spina Designs.

Standing at six-and-a-half feet tall, the figure showcases an elaborate costume that includes an articulated helmet with adjustable rangefinder; green-coloured Mandalorian armour pieces; synthetic Wookie-scalp braids tied around the right shoulder; a fabric cape attached to the left shoulder; a grey flight suit; a utility belt; and a pair of spiked boots. The components are made of a combination of resin, fibreglass and metal, with internal metal poles for assembly.

The figure also includes a jetpack, a stunt EE-3 blaster rifle and a stunt Sacros K-11 blaster pistol inserted into a holster on the right hip. One side of the chest armour has a built-in counter that lights up red, powered by a built-in battery pack. The display base also lights up via a button situated at the back, and the lot comes with an external power supply. The armour pieces have been intentionally distressed to produce a weathered appearance, and the flight suit exhibits purposeful marks. 356. Life-size Rubie's Darth Vader Replica Statue USA

STAR WARS: EP V - THE EMPIRE STRIKES BACK (1980)

A life-size Rubie's Darth Vader replica statue from the promotion of Irvin Kershner's Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back. Released in 1996 by Rubie's Costume Company as part of a limited edition run of licenced, life-size figures, this statue is numbered 407 of 500. Each statue was hand-crafted by Michael Burnett Studios based on reference from an original costume. This statue features a gloss black fibreglass helmet and armour components: a resin chest box with internal electronics and red, blue, and silver-colour display components; a belt with a minimally-detailed lightsaber hilt and two plastic boxes inset with green and silver-colour buttons. The other costume elements are made of synthetic fabrics, leather, and foam. This statue comes displayed on a grey wooden base featuring a plaque engraved with the Empire Strikes Back logo. It exhibits scuffing, cracking, and chips in the base from handling, and its electronic functionality remains untested. Dimensions: 49 cm x 99 cm x 213 cm (19.5 x 39" x 84")

357. Light-Up Goa'uld Naguadah Bomb м

STARGATE: CONTINUUM (2008)

A Goa'uld Naquadah bomb from Martin Wood's sci-fi sequel Stargate: Continuum. Ba'al (Cliff Simon) planted a spherical Naguadah bomb as he attempted to destroy the Achilles freighter ship. However, Mitchell (Ben Browder) was able to drop the explosive into the ocean before it detonated. Various forms of Goa'uld Naquadah bombs were also used in multiple episodes of TV series Stargate SG-1.

Cast in resin, the large spherical bomb is finished in a dark grey paint and is decorated with sporadic gold-coloured line detailing, with a green keypad adorning the top. Red and orange LED lights feature all over the device and flash when the top-right square of the keypad is pressed. The LEDs are powered by eight AA batteries which can be inserted into the base. The lot displays minor paint wear and light scuffing from production use. Dimensions: 36 cm x 36 cm x 36 cm (14 1⁄4" x 14 1⁄4" x 14 1⁄4")

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

358. Apophis' (Peter Williams) Mechanical Headdress Ω

STARGATE SG-1 (T.V. SERIES, 1997-2007)

Apophis' (Peter Williams) mechanical headdress from the sci-fi television show Stargate SG-1. Apophis was a System Lord of the Goa'uld and the ultimate nemesis of Stargate Command. He wore his armoured headdress, designed by Christina McQuarrie, in the pilot episode, in which he and his Jaffa Serpent Guards infiltrated the Embarkation room of Stargate Command. He lowered his mechanical headdress and commanded his Jaffas to kill the stationed guards, before abducting Senior Airman Carol Weterings (Rachel Hayward).

The headdress is made up of several components. The cobra head is made of fibreglass painted gold, and features red resin crystals for eyes, the Apophis symbol on its forehead and an engraved pattern throughout. The face and back of the headdress are segmented so they can open and close, a function that is controlled by a pressure valve and electrical system concealed at the back. The neck-and-shoulder guard is made of foam and rubber painted faux gold, with plastic buckles and straps to hold the headdress onto the wearer.

The headdress is displayed on a custom-made stand. It shows some signs of wear from production use, including paint wear throughout, and the top sections of the headdress have come apart. Dimensions: 70 cm x 64 cm x 60 cm (27 1/2" x 25" x 23 2/3")

359. Mobile Infantry Costume with Stunt Morita Rifle м

STARSHIP TROOPERS (1997)

A Mobile Infantry uniform and stunt Morita rifle from Paul Verhoeven's sci-fi action film Starship Troopers. Mobile Infantry troopers wore their combat uniforms and armour throughout their training and their planet-hopping campaign against the alien Arachnids.

The costume comprises a dark grey fibreglass B-grade helmet; a set of A-grade foamrubber armour (labelled "163"); a grey polyester zip-up jacket (labelled size "46 to 48 X-Large, 125 M"); a black T-shirt (labelled "Johnny"); various pouches; a pair of grey padded trousers (labelled "R Net Cor., M-L 34"); a leg holster featuring a metal throwing left boot labelled "146"); and a stunt Morita assault rifle.

The pouches contain four foam grenades, two foam magazines, an empty water bottle and a sealed lemon-cake ration. Completing the lot is a separate black nylon flight suit. There are signs of minor wear on multiple components, a clip is missing from the back of the armour, and the helmet has a small crack and scuffing to the paint finish. The rifle is missing its muzzle tip and the cocking handle on its right side. Dimensions (rifle): 96 cm x 6.5 cm x 26 cm (37 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 2 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>" x 10 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

360. Phil Tippett Hopper Bug Maquette Ω

STARSHIP TROOPERS (1997)

A Hopper Bug maquette from the production of Paul Verhoeven's sci-fi action film Starship Troopers. Tippett Studio created maquettes of the film's various Bugs as three-dimensional representations of the creatures that would be largely digitally animated on screen. They were tools for shot planning, lighting reference, and other purposes. Tippett Studio founder Phil Tippett is credited as creature visual effects supervisor and co-producer on the film, and received a Best Visual Effects nomination for his work on the film at the 70th Academy Awards®.

knife and a glow stick; a pair of Adidas® boots, UK size 12.5 (right boot labelled "13" and This Hopper Bug maquette was sculpted by Peter Konig and is cast in resin. It is painted metallic green with red details, and has articulating joints. Each wing is constructed from translucent vacuum-formed plastic and is painted with black-andgreen detail. The maquette's legs and wings can be detached, making it easier to pack for transport.

> Presented on a custom metal-and-wooden base, the maquette is stored in a custom Tippett Studio wooden crate and is accompanied by a certificate of authenticity signed by Tippett. The maquette shows some wear from use, such as scratches to the paint and repairs to some of the legs with glue. Dimensions (maquette): 68.5 cm x 53.5 cm x 59.5 cm (27" x 21" x 23  $\frac{1}{2}$ "); dimensions (crate): 76 cm x 40.5 cm x 45.5 cm (30" x 16" x 18")

Estimate: £6,000 - 8,000

361. Rodger Young Model Miniature Spaceship Ω

STARSHIP TROOPERS (1997)

A Rodger Young model miniature from Paul Verhoeven's sci-fi action movie Starship Troopers. The Rodger Young was the transport ship piloted by Carmen Ibanez (Denise Richards), on which the Roughnecks – Johnny Rico's (Casper Van Dien) unit – were stationed. The model was originally built for the production as a maquette, to visualise the final look of the film's spacecraft. It was then used as a miniature for several sequences, including those set in the orbit of the planet Klendathu.

It is made of resin, hand-painted to look like metal and intentionally distressed to appear well travelled. The model is accompanied by a letter of authenticity from Donald MacBain, who was the production supervisor for the models and miniatures unit on the film. The letter explains the history of the item, and also includes copies of the screening and work reports, which detail how and when the model was used. The model is displayed on a custom-made wooden stand. It has minor wear from production use, including some signs of repair, and the display stand has some scuffing. Dimensions (displayed): 48.5 cm x 12.5 cm x 18 cm (19" x 5" x 7")

Estimate: £5,000 - 7,000

362. Icarus II Filming Miniature †

SUNSHINE (2007)

A production-made filming miniature of the Icarus II  $^{\prime}$ from Danny Boyle's sci-fi thriller Sunshine. Capa (Cillian Murphy) and his fellow astronauts travelled aboard the Icarus II on a dangerous mission to revive the dying sun. The design of the ship was conceived by production designer Mark Tildesley and this version was created for use on film, but ultimately the Icarus II seen on screen is an entirely digital creation.

Constructed around a metal armature, the ship's elaborate shield - which is one mile in diameter in the film to protect the Icarus II from the extreme heat and radiation of the sun – is covered in rings of brass metal and hasan etched centre plate. The main spine of the ship comprises very delicate plastic and resin components, which form the ship's living quarters, and its bulky payload sits immediately behind the shield. Supported on a production-built stand, when powered up the spine rotates slowly as it does in the finished film. Dimensions: 81 cm x 92 cm x 92 cm (32" x 36" x 36").

364. Stuart Freeborn Collection: Superman (Christopher Reeve) Stunt Dummy Head м

SUPERMAN (1978)

A Superman (Christopher Reeve) stunt dummy head from the production of Richard Donner's superhero film Superman. A Reeve-resembling dummy was created for flying sequences which were too dangerous or impractical for the actor himself to perform. This lot was originally obtained from the collection of legendary make-up artist Stuart Freeborn.

Made of fibreglass, the head is a painted lifecast of Reeve's own, with eye holes and foam-latex ears. Its crown is unpainted and secured via three small screws, with Velcro® strips adhered along the hairline, allowing the application of a wig. The head displays cracking, light paint wear and glue residue, and there is minor damage to its bottom edge. There are still remnants of hair from the wig on the Velcro®, and the foam-latex ears have begun to degrade over time. Dimensions: 27 cm x 18 cm x 24 cm (10 ½" x 7" x 9 ½")

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

365. Superman's (Christopher Reeve) Wig м

SUPERMAN (1978)

Superman's (Christopher Reeve) wig from Richard Donner's superhero film Superman. Wigs were used throughout the film, as newspaper reporter Clark Kent secretly transformed into Superman, changing his hairstyle and donning his iconic blue, red and yellow suit.

The wig consists of slicked-back dark brown synthetic hair punched onto a light champagne-coloured mesh cap. It features Superman's signature kiss-curl at the front and his parting on the left side - the opposite side to his parting while in the guise of Clark Kent. A label on the inside of the wig reads "Chris Reeves [sic], Superman No. 3" in black ink, and there is an additional "Wig Specialities" label on the wig's interior. The lot comes on a custom-made display and exhibits minimal wear from production use. Dimensions (displayed): 18 cm x 18 cm x 30 cm (7" x 7" x 11 ¾")

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

366. Clark Kent's (Christopher Reeve) Wig м

SUPERMAN (1978)

Clark Kent's (Christopher Reeve) wig from Richard Donner's superhero film Superman. Wigs were used throughout the film, as Superman took the guise of mild-mannered newspaper reporter Clark Kent, so he could blend in with the citizens of Metropolis.

The wig consists of dark brown synthetic hair punched onto a light champagnecoloured mesh cap with a parting on the right side (Reeve wore a wig with a leftside parting when he transformed into Superman). A label on the inside of the wig reads "Chris Reeves [sic], Clark Kent No. 1" in black ink, and there is an additional "Wig Specialities" label on the interior. The lot comes on a custom-made display and exhibits minimal wear from production use. Dimensions (displayed): 20 cm x 20 cm x 28 cm (8" x 8" x 11")

SUPERMAN III (1984)

Each strip consists of four black-and-white photos, and the bottom of one photo strip is intentionally torn, while the other remains intact. The blue card file contains 95 printed storyboards depicting the opening credits, and each page is dated "20 Jul 1982". Pages "49" to "57" show the photobooth sequence. The strips display minimal wear, and the folder exhibits minor tearing, marks and discolouration on the cover. Dimensions (intact photos): 20 cm  $\times$  4.5 cm (8" x 1 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>"); (file): 23 cm x 37.5 cm x 2 cm (9" x 14 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

378. Full-size T-800 Endoskeleton Ω

TERMINATOR 2: JUDGMENT DAY (1991)

A T-800 Terminator Endoskeleton from James Cameron's sci-fi action sequel Terminator 2: Judgment Day. Renowned for its groundbreaking visual effects, Terminator 2 combined both practical and newly pioneered digital effects to set the new standard for action blockbusters, garnering numerous Academy Awards® for its technical achievements.

The genocidal machines were created by Cameron's long-time collaborator, Stan Winston, who originally helped bring them to life in The Terminator. Stan Winston Studio was tasked with creating numerous Endoskeletons for the sequel's "Future War" opening sequence, including both cable-controlled puppets and static Endoskeletons. The T-800 Terminator Endoskeleton is the signature piece from one of the most beloved science fiction franchises in cinema.

The Terminator 2 Endoskeletons were actively rebuilt during and after production of the film; some pieces were harvested for use in the Universal theme park attraction T2-3D: Battle Across Time and other related needs. This particular Endoskeleton was modified to be used in the planned Las Vegas show for magician Criss Angel, a project that Stan Winston Studios collaborated on.

The Endoskeleton is primarily made of chrome-plated resin, with steel and aluminium components. An internal support armature is located in the torso and engineered into some of the limbs, such as the lower legs. This model comprises a combination of original production components, complemented by reproduction parts created from original moulds including the lower left arm, parts of the right arm, and both feet.

The head is a reproduction created by Stan Winston Studios, complete with redcoloured illuminating eyes powered by an included 210/240V power supply. There are cable loops present on both shoulders. The lot has been intentionally distressed all over, creating a battle-damaged appearance, and the right foot is missing a toe. The Endoskeleton comes mounted on a metal display base, and care must be taken during handling. Dimensions: 33 cm x 60 cm x 182 cm (13" x 23 ¾" x 71 ¾")

385. Tron's (Bruce Boxleitner) Helmet м

TRON (1982)

to stop ENCOM's Master Control Program.

Tron is a truly groundbreaking movie, being one of the first productions to feature entirely computer-animated sequences. However, most of its iconic visual effects were created using matte-photography techniques and backlit animation. The actors were shot in black-and-white on a black background, then printed on large, high-contrast film and hand-coloured using rotoscoping. This process proved to be so complicated and costly it was never again used for a feature film.

Tron's (Bruce Boxleitner) helmet from Steven Lisberger's sci-fi adventure Tron. The lot comprises a custom-made helmet, modelled after a hockey helmet, Alan Bradley's security program, known as Tron, wore his helmet throughout the made of white-coloured vacuum-formed plastic, to which a white-painted foam film, in the neon-tinged digital world of the ENCOM mainframe. He teamed up with liner is attached via four metal screws. It is covered in black tape, which forms software engineer Kevin Flynn (Jeff Bridges) and the program Yori (Cindy Morgan) intricate circuit-board decals. Incorporated into the circuitry designs are sections of transparent tape featuring black dots, which glow when the helmet is placed under UV light.

> The helmet's interior is labelled "Tron", while "Bruce #2" is written in black ink on the front of the foam liner. Some decals have begun to peel or are missing, and cracking is present on the foam. This lot should be handled with care, as the back of the helmet is fragile. ## 389. Agamemnon's (Brian Cox) Hero Sword and Scabbard м

TROY (2004)

Agamemnon's (Brian Cox) hero sword and scabbard from Wolfgang Petersen's mythical epic Troy. The King of Mycenae wielded his sword throughout the film, most notably when he led the attack on the city of Troy.

The sword has a brass blade with intricate swirling patterns running along its length, a curved, red-painted guard, a cross-patterned hilt and a circular pommel. It comes with its scabbard, which is made of reddish-brown leather. This features a square spiral pattern, brass adornments at its top and a thin leather strap with an attached buckle. The lot shows signs of production use, including light paint wear, some scuffing on the leather and intentional tarnishing on the metal. Dimensions: 68 cm x 9 cm x 6 cm (26 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 3 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>" x 2 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>")

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

390. Achilles' (Brad Pitt) Hero Sword м

TROY (2004)

Achilles' (Brad Pitt) hero sword from Wolfgang Petersen's mythical epic Troy. Achilles wielded his sword throughout the film, using it to brutal effect during his efficient dispatching of Boagrius (Nathan Jones) in the opening scene, in his battles against the Trojan Apollonians, and in his vicious duel with Hector (Eric Bana).

This is the hero version of this spectacular weapon, created for close-up shots and made from heavyweight materials to the highest standards. The blade forms a delicate curved-leaf shape. It is made of solid bronze and decorated with curved inlays coming down from its black, solid-cast resin handle. There are holes at each corner of the grip, giving the illusion of rivets, and a ridge runs down the centre of the blade to just below the tip.

The weapon comes with a bespoke display stand, made in the production's workshop, which features a marble-like stone base, with the film-title artwork painted in gold. Green paint has been skillfully applied to the handle and bottom of the blade to create the appearance of a verdigris patina, and the weapon has been intentionally distressed to look battle-worn. Dimensions (displayed): 21 cm x 13 cm x 76 cm (8  $\frac{14}{3}$  x 5  $\frac{14}{3}$  x 30")

Estimate: £8,000 - 12,000

TROY (2004)

Menelaus' (Brendan Gleeson) hero sword from Wolfgang Petersen's mythical epic Troy. Menelaus notably used his sword while fighting Paris (Orlando Bloom), the lover of his and the underside of the pommel. The sword exhibits light paint wear, scuffing and wife Helen (Diane Kruger), outside the walls of Troy.

The weapon comprises a solid bronze blade with an intentionally weathered appearance, a solid, cast-rubber grip designed to replicate the appearance of black-painted wood, Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000 and a fishtail-style pommel. Raised rivet-like detailing adorns both the top of the handle stage blood remnants on one side of the blade, and a rivet is missing from the pommel. Dimensions: 72.5 cm x 8 cm x 4 cm (28 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>" x 3 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x 1 <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>")

392. Paris' (Orlando Bloom) Shield м

TROY (2004)

Paris' (Orlando Bloom) shield from Wolfgang Petersen's mythical epic Troy. Paris used his shield while fighting for Helen's (Diane Kruger) hand against her husband Menelaus (Brendan Gleeson) outside the walls of Troy, and while cowering behind his brother Hector (Eric Bana) after being overpowered.

Made of resin and fibreglass, the front of the shield is decorated with three pairs of raised horse emblems. and has a vinyl-like fabric with fret cut patterns around its outside edge. The back of the shield is padded, to provide comfort for the actor, and features a wooden handle, alongside four faux-gold metal rings. Intentionally distressed to look battle-worn, the lot exhibits minor wear around the edges, light scuffs at its centre and marks on the back. Dimensions: 90 cm x 90 cm x 11 cm (35 ½" x 35 ½" x 4 ¼")

VIKINGS (T.V. SERIES, 2013-2020)

Ivar the Boneless' (Alex Hogh Andersen) costume from Michael Hirst's historical-drama TV show Vikings. Ivar wore his costume throughout Season 4 Part 2 and Season 5, as he declared himself the new king of Kattegat, seeking revenge after the death of his parents Ragnar (Travis Fimmel) and Aslaug (Alyssa Sutherland).

The costume consists of a brown leather spangenhelm-style helmet (labelled "JSB 448"); a black leather tunic with a woven grid pattern and one short chainmail sleeve (labelled "lvar"); a dark grey cotton tunic; an undershirt with a cream-coloured collar; a pair of dark grey suede trousers; a black leather belt; and a pair of brown leather gauntlets (left one labelled "Ivar Hero"). There are signs of intentional weathering and the costume exhibits minor wear from production use.

Estimate: £3,000 - 5,000

393. Lycan Head м

UNDERWORLD: EVOLUTION (2006)

A Lycan head from Len Wiseman's fantasy-horror sequel Underworld: Evolution. The Lycans were a rebellious legion of werewolves, seen battling the vampire army during the bloody opening sequence.

Built over a padded helmet, the head comprises a foam-latex face featuring pointed ears, a pair of black glass eyes and a set of sharp, rubber teeth. Strands of grey synthetic hair are applied over the majority of the mask. There is a Velcro strap at the back of the helmet with the name "Kurt" written in silver-coloured marker, referring to Kurt Carley, who played Hero Black Wolf #1. A hair-covered nylon neckpiece has been added to the head since production, for display purposes. The head exhibits minor wear, and is presented on a custom display base with a button at the rear, which once caused the front title artwork to illuminate. Dimensions (displayed): 55 cm x 36 cm x 62 cm (21 ½" x 14 ¼" x 24 ½")

Contains electronic components; see electronic components notice in the Buyer's Guide.

400. Full-size Death Dog Puppet Head †A

WILLOW (1988)

A full-size Death Dog puppet head from Ron Howard's fantasy adventure Willow. Death Dogs, loyal beasts of the evil Queen Baymorda (Jean Marsh), were shaggy and fanged creatures that hunted down the peculiar baby Elora Danan, and raided Nelwyn village searching for her.

The Death Dogs were performed for the most part by highly trained Rottweilers wearing fur costumes and masks. This head has a moveable jaw and loose tongue to be controlled by a puppeteer for close-up shots. The lot comprises painted brown foam latex skin and soft foam layered over a resin skull. Thick dark brown faux fur with sections of incorporated woven straw covers the back of the head. It features pointed ears, a pair of glass eyes, a set of yellowed resin teeth displaying a glossy varnish finish, and a red foam latex tongue. There is some minor wear to the foam latex, and some hair strands are loose throughout. Dimensions: 48 cm x 32 cm x 28 cm (19" x 12 ½" x 11")

Estimate: £2,000 - 3,000

401. Wonka Bar м

WILLY WONKA AND THE CHOCOLATE FACTORY (1971)

A Wonka bar from Mel Stuart's fantasy musical Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory. Wonka bars featured throughout this adaptation of Roald Dahl's classic children's story, after Willy Wonka (Gene Wilder) randomly hid five golden tickets to a tour of his mysterious factory in the wrappers of his chocolate bars. One of these was found by Charlie Bucket (Peter Ostrum), beginning his adventure.

Props from this beloved film are extremely hard to find, as most were destroyed at its Bavarian film studio to quickly make way for the immediate filming of Cabaret.

Made from compressed card, the bar displays the famous Wonka logo, which features the factory owner's top hat in yellow. Its outer edge is brightly decorated in orange, with the rest of the confectionary coloured a rich chocolate brown. The top and bottom edges are hand-painted pink and "From David Saxon" is written on the back in yellow pencil, referring to the production's credited film editor. The bar shows some signs of age and use, with minor paint wear, scuffing and light crease lines at the two bottom corners. Dimensions: 9 cm x 16 cm x 0.5 cm (3 ½" x 6 ¼" x ¼")

Estimate: £8,000 - 12,000

402. Scrumdidilyumptious Wrapper м

WILLY WONKA AND THE CHOCOLATE FACTORY (1971)

A Scrumdidilyumptious bar wrapper from Mel Stuart's fantasy musical Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory. Various Wonka bars featured throughout this adaptation of Roald Dahl's classic children's story. A shopkeeper showed the Scrumdidilyumptious bar, "Wonka's orange and pink stripes along the lower edge. The remainder of the wrapper is finished newest creation," to a group of children early in the film. Soon after, Charlie Bucket (Peter in a chocolate brown colour. The reverse shows the ingredients, packing information Ostrum) chose one before selecting a Wonka Bar that contained his golden ticket.

This wrapper originally came from the personal collection of Peter Ostrum. Props from this beloved film are extremely hard to find, as most were destroyed at its Bavarian film studio to quickly make way for the immediate filming of Cabaret.

The paper wrapper features the iconic Wonka logo, with the chocolatier's famous top hat in yellow to the left. Also in yellow is the bar's name, "Scrumdidilyumptious", with bright and weight. Most of the original white inner wrapper for the chocolate remains, but is in poor condition. The wrapper itself shows signs of age and use, with creases along the edges and small holes at the inner wrapper's exposed ends. Dimensions: 28 cm x 4.5 cm x 1.5 cm (11" x 1 <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" x <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>")

CHARLES LIPPINCOTT COLLECTION

Lots in this section of the auction come from the collection of Charles "Charley" Lippincott. Lippincott is considered among the foremost marketing and merchandising experts in the history of science-fiction. After an early start in traditional Hollywood publicity, his career exploded when college friend George Lucas hired him as Lucasfilm's VP of Advertising, Publicity, Promotion & Merchandising, a role he used to create arguably the most successful – and bombastic – marketing campaign ever for Lucas' original Star Wars trilogy. Lippincott subsequently masterminded the publicity strategies for such era-defining properties as Ridley Scott's Alien and Mike Hodges' Flash Gordon, both of which are represented in this auction. The popularity of these projects further propelled him into the top ranks of film executives, leading him to produce Danny Cannon's cult classic Judge Dredd, which is also heavily featured in this catalog. While Charley Lippincott passed away in 2020, his personal collection reflects a legacy of rare influence and lifelong fandom.

Special Notices

Notice on Firearm Deactivation

Firearms with this disclaimer have been permanently and sympathetically deactivated to U.K. legal requirements and no longer retains any functional capacity to fire; a U.K. proof house certificate of deactivation is included. For buyers within the U.S., these Lots may still need to transfer through a Federal Firearms Dealer. It is solely the buyer's responsibility to check, prior to bidding, the legal status of this weapon within their own country and the importation therein. All costs associated with the transfer will be the buyer's responsibility.

Notice on U.S. Live Firearms

This item is a firearm stored in the U.S., and while it is sold for collectible purposes only, as it is legally a firearm and capable of firing ammunition it must be transferred to a U.S. buyer through a Federal Firearms License. You will then have to go through the necessary steps to purchase a firearm, which vary state by state. Exporting the piece to the U.K. or Europe may be possible if it is deactivated at additional cost; please inquire for details.

Notice on Replica Firearms and UK Restrictions

Replica firearms Lots will ship with a blaze orange plug affixed to their barrel tip (plug is not depicted in catalogue illustrations.) Buyers should be aware that ownership of Lots with this disclaimer is restricted for UK residents to registered re-enactors, galleries, or individuals in film, television, or theatre production. Please inquire for further details. There may be restrictions applicable to Buyers in other countries as well; it is solely the Buyer's responsibility to check, prior to bidding, the legal status of this item within their own country and the importation therein.

Notice on Copyright

Lots with this disclaimer are sold without copyright, reproduction rights, licencing agreements or any other type of legal release.

Notice on Electronics and Mechanics

Some lots in the auction contain electronic and/or mechanical components. While every effort is made to describe them accurately, no guarantee or warranty is made as to the functionality, lifespan or safety of those components. It is entirely incumbent on the new owner to satisfy themselves as to their safe use and maintenance

6.1.2. apply a bidding cap or suspend bidding privileges to individual bidders at any point during the auction period. The cap will be withdrawn once evidence has been submitted to Prop Store's satisfaction that all bids are genuine, the bidder has the means to complete the purchase(s) and any other security checks Prop Store

6.2. All bids must be made in GBP Sterling. The auctioneer has the right to exercise reasonable discretion in refusing any bid, advancing the bidding in such a manner as he may decide, withdrawing or dividing any Lot, combining any two or more Lots and, in the case of error or dispute, and whether during or after the sale, determining the successful Bidder, continuing the bidding, cancelling the sale or reoffering and reselling the Lot in dispute. If any dispute arises after the sale, then, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary the sale record maintained by the auctioneer will be conclusive.

Terms & Conditions

- 6.3. Unless otherwise indicated, all Lots are offered subject to a Reserve Price. The Reserve Price will not exceed the low estimate printed in the catalogue. The Reserve Price will not be more than the lowest estimate given by Prop Store. Prop Store may disclose or keep confidential the Reserve Price at its entire discretion
- 6.4. The auctioneer may open the bidding on any Lot below the Reserve Price by placing a bid on behalf of the Seller. The auctioneer may continue to bid on behalf of the Seller up to the amount of the Reserve Price, either by placing consecutive bids or by placing bids in response to other Bidders.
- 6.5. When making a bid, every Bidder acknowledges that such bid is a binding offer to buy the Lot at that price (plus the Buyer's Premium, Buyer's Expenses (if applicable), all applicable taxes and any and all shipping charges, storage and other costs). A successful Bidder will be deemed to be the Buyer unless it has been explicitly agreed in writing with Prop Store before the start of the Auction that the Bidder is acting as agent on behalf of an identified third party acceptable to Prop Store (and registered with Prop Store), and only then will Prop Store regard that third party as the Buyer. In such circumstances, the Bidder acting as agent confirms that he is authorised to bind the third party and that the Buyer has been made aware of and accepts these Conditions.
- 6.6. Prop Store will use reasonable efforts to execute written bids delivered before the Auction for Bidders unable to attend the auction in person, by an agent or by telephone or online. All such written bids must be made on Prop Store's Absentee Bids Form (in the catalogue).
- 6.7. If Prop Store receives written bids on a particular Lot for identical amounts, and at the auction these are the highest bids on the Lot, it will be sold to the person whose written bid was received and accepted first.
- 6.8. Online bidding at Prop Store Auctions is made available via third party service providers and use of their services and all online bidding is subject to their respective terms of use. Successful online bids will be subject to payment of Buyer's Expenses.
- 6.9. The Auction will be tracked on a video or digital screen, which may display, among other things, a photograph of the Lot offered for sale and the then-current bid. Bidders understand and agree that errors may occur in its operation and, except as expressly stated in the Buyer's Guide or these Conditions, Prop Store shall have no liability arising out of or related to any errors or omission in respect thereto.
- 6.10. By participating in and/or attending the Auction and signing the registration form, each person consents to be filmed and/or photographed and agrees and authorises Prop Store to use and publish such film and/or photographs, name and likeness for use in (1) providing online access to the Auction, (2) recording the results of the Auction, (3) print, digital, online and all other media for marketing purposes (including without limitation, on Prop Store's website, YouTube and other online platforms) and (4) in any other Prop Store publications of whatever nature. The participant releases Prop Store and holds it harmless from any reasonable expectation of confidentiality or privacy associated with such images and releases Prop Store and any third parties involved in the making, creation or publication of the images or any marketing or other materials from all and any liability for claims made in respect of such publication. Publication of the images in whatever format confers no right of ownership on the individual or right to royalties or payment. A designated area will be set aside if you do not wish to be filmed. If you wish to withdraw consent. email support@propstore.com.
- 6.11. Subject to the auctioneer's reasonable discretion, the Bidder placing the highest bid accepted by the auctioneer will be the Buyer and the striking of his hammer marks the acceptance of the highest bid and the conclusion of a contract for sale between the Seller and the Buyer. Risk and responsibility for the Lot (including frames or glass where relevant) passes to the Buyer on the date seven calendar days from the date of the sale or on collection by the Buyer if earlier and the Buyer should arrange insurance cover for the Lot if required.
- 6.12. The record of sale (Prop Store's records which relate to the sale) will be taken as absolute and final in all disputes. In the event of a discrepancy between any online records or messages provided to you and the record of sale, the record of sale will govern.
- 6.13. At its discretion, Prop Store may apply a bidding cap to individual bidders at any point during the auction period. The cap will be withdrawn once evidence has been submitted to Prop Store's satisfaction that all bids are genuine, and the bidder has the means to complete the purchase

7. After the Auction

- 7.1. Prop Store will notify successful Bidders and send (by email unless requested otherwise) a payment invoice setting out the Purchase Price and itemising the Hammer Price and Buyer's Premium plus any applicable VAT within 7 calendar days of the end of the Auction.
- 7.2. Unless a payment plan (as set out in condition 7.3 below) has been agreed by Prop Store, payment is due within 7 calendar days from receipt of invoice and must be made by the Buyer. Payments from any other source will not be accepted and shall be returned by Prop Store.
- 7.3. Payment plans will be available in 1, 2, or 3 month increments on any invoice over £250, unless otherwise specified on the individual lot. Bidders wishing to utilise the payment plan service, if approved by Prop Store, will be responsible for paying a 20% deposit on their Lots within 7 calendar days of receiving their invoice. The balance will then be split over 1, 2 or 3 months per the Buyer's selection. If the 1 month option is selected, the remaining balance on the Lot will be due 30 days after the deposit date. If the 2 month option is selected, half of the remaining balance will be due 30 days after the deposit date and the remaining half 30 days after that, and so on.
- 7.4. Prop Store offers no grace period on payment plan deadlines. If the Buyer does not adhere to payment deadline as agreed under the terms of the payment plan, the Buyer will have defaulted. In the event of default all funds already paid to Prop Store will be forfeited by the Buyer, and title of the Lot will not transfer to Buyer. Prop Store and the Seller shall also be entitled to all remedies for non-payment as described below and at law.
- 7.5. Title in the Lot will pass to Buyer and the Lot will be made available for collection by the Buyer only when Prop Store is completely satisfied that all monies owing have been paid in full
- 7.6. Payment must be in Pounds Sterling and may be made by electronic transfer, debit card, credit card (up to a maximum of £25,000) bankers draft or cash (up to a maximum of £5,000). Please quote the Lot number, invoice number and Bidder registration number when making payment to ensure it can be processed as efficiently as possible.
- 7.7. Credit card payments are only acceptable on the express understanding that the Lot is not returnable, refundable nor exchangeable and no charge card credit or refund may be issued in the event of any such return. If payment is made by credit card, Buyer will not undertake any action or effort to stop payment, seek a refund, or attempt a charge back of such amounts - or any Credit Card Fee assessed thereon - by the issuer of the credit card.
- 7.8. Cryptocurrency payments are accepted via our payment processor (BitPay), as indicated at checkout. You must pay for the entire balance owed including the Purchase Price and any other relevant charges entirely in one form of Cryptocurrency and you should ensure you have a sufficient balance to pay for all sums owed. We do not accept partial payment by Cryptocurrency and a different form of payment in one transaction. Cryptocurrency payment is only acceptable on the express understanding that the Lot is not returnable, refundable nor exchangeable. We also reserve the right to exclude the use of payment by Cryptocurrency on certain Lots, such exclusion to be noted on the listing.

7.10. The Buyer will not acquire title to the Lot until all amounts due to the Seller and Prop Store from the Buyer have been received by Prop Store in cleared funds even in circumstances where Prop Store has released the Lot to the Buyer

7.1. By registering for this auction the Buyer authorises Prop Store to charge the credit card provided at registration for all Lots purchased at the auction, and any future auction a Bidder may participate in, if not paid in full within 7 calendar days after the auction close.

7.12. If the Buyer does not make any payment due to Prop Store by the due date for payment, Prop Store may charge interest on the overdue amount at the rate of 5% a year above the base lending rate of LlovdsTSB Bank plc from time to time. This interest shall accrue on a daily basis from the due date until the date of actual payment of the overdue amount, whether before or after judgment. The Buyer must pay Prop Store interest together with any overdue amount.

7.13. In addition to its rights in condition 7.11 and at law, in the event of default by the Buyer, Prop Store may take one or more of the following actions:

713.1. hold the Buyer liable for the total amount due and commence legal proceedings for its recovery together with interest, legal fees and costs to the fullest extent

7.13.3. resell the Lot publicly or privately on such terms as Prop Store shall think fit;

7.13.4. pay the Seller an amount up to the net proceeds payable in respect of the Hammer Price;

7.13.5. set off against any amounts which Prop Store may owe to the Buyer in any other transactions, some or all of the outstanding amount remaining unpaid by the

7.13.6. apply any amount paid to discharge any amount owed in respect of any particular transaction, whether or not the Buyer so directs;

713.7. reject at any future auction any bids made by or on behalf of the Buyer or to require a deposit from the Buyer before accepting any further bids;

7.13.8. exercise all the rights and remedies of a person holding security over any Lot in Prop Store's possession owned by the Buyer, whether by way of pledge, security interest or in any other way, to the fullest extent permitted by the law of the place where such Lot is located. The Buyer will be deemed to have granted such security to Prop Store and it may retain such Lot as collateral security for such Buyer's obligations;

7.13.9. take such other action as Prop Store deems necessary or appropriate. If Prop Store resells the Lot under condition 7.13.3 above, the Buyer shall be liable for payment of any deficiency between the total amount originally due to Prop Store and the amount received upon resale as well as all reasonable costs, expenses, damages, legal fees and commissions and premiums of whatever kind associated with both sales or otherwise arising from the default. If Prop Store pays any amount to the Seller under condition 7.13.4 above, the Buyer acknowledges that Prop Store shall have all of the rights of the Seller, however arising, to pursue the 7.13.10. release the name and address of the Buyer to the Seller to enable the Seller to commence legal proceedings to recover the amounts due and legal costs. Prop Store will take reasonable steps to notify the Buyer prior to releasing such details to the Seller.

7.14. Prop Store shall be entitled to retain Lots sold until all amounts due have been received in full in good cleared funds or until the Buyer has performed any other outstanding obligations as Prop Store shall reasonably require. Subject to this, the Buyer shall collect, or have shipped or collected for shipment, purchased Lots within 7 calendar days from the date of the sale unless otherwise agreed between Prop Store and the Buyer. Lots can be collected in person

Terms & Conditions

- 7.15. Each Lot will require a custom packing service and by bidding on a Lot a Bidder agrees to pay all relevant shipping costs. Prop Store's carrier of choice is FedEx, although some Lots will require special freight service. Potential shipping estimates can be obtained by emailing shipping@ propstore.com detailing the Lot number of interest and the shipping address prior to the auction
- 7.16. Prop Store recommends working with its preferred third-party independent freight agent Precision Cargo on any questions regarding importing and exporting Lots
- 7.17. Although Prop Store shall use reasonable efforts to take care when selecting third parties for these purposes, the Buyer will contract directly with such third party and Prop Store accepts no liability or responsibility for the acts or omissions of any such third parties. Similarly, where Prop Store suggests other handlers, packers or carriers, its suggestions are made on the basis of its general experience of such parties in the past and Prop Store is not responsible to any person to whom it has made a recommendation for the acts or omissions of the third party concerned.
- 7.18. It is the Buyer's sole obligation and responsibility to be aware of, to comply with, and to pay for all relevant import duties, taxes, VAT, customs and other fees charaed in the Buver's local jurisdiction. Prop Store will ship all packages with the full value of the Lot declared. Buver understands and agrees that Prop Store shall have no obligation or responsibility for any import duties, taxes, VAT, customs, shipping or other charges for the Lots shipped. Failure by the Buyer to pay all necessary amounts may result in the relevant authorities returning the Lot to Prop Store and in those circumstances the Buyer will be charged and will pay storage cost and Prop Store's additional reasonable costs and expenses.
- 7.19. It is the Buyer's responsibility to ensure that any Lot purchased from Prop Store enters the shipping location lawfully, that all duties and taxes have been paid and that all required export procedures, regulations, and laws were properly complied with. Buyer understands and agrees that Prop Store shall have no obligation or responsibility for complying with any export procedures, regulations, or laws applicable to the Lot.
- 7.20. Unless otherwise agreed by Prop Store in writing, the fact that the Buyer wishes to apply for an export licence does not affect or postpone the Buyer's obligation to make payment in accordance with Prop Store's payment terms nor Prop Store's right to charge interest or storage charges on late payment. If the Buyer requests Prop Store to apply for an export licence on his or her behalf, Prop Store shall be entitled to make a charge and be paid for this service. Prop Store shall not be obliged to rescind or cancel a sale nor to refund any monies paid by the Buyer to Prop Store as a result of or related to the Buyer's failure or inability to obtain an export license.
- 7.21. Where Lots are not collected within 14 calendar days from the due date of payment, whether or not payment has been made, a storage fee of 3% of the Hammer Price per month shall be charged to the Buyer. If the Buyer has failed to pay the Purchase Price and the cost of shipping and handling, Prop Store, at its option may cancel the sale.
- 7.22. Successful bidders whose total invoice is equal to or greater than €10,000 (or the GBP equivalent) shall agree to undergo Enhanced Customer Due Diligence (EDD) checks as per the EU Fifth Money Laundering Directive (5MLD). The lots won will not be released until the EDD check has been completed and passed.
- 7.23. Due to the impact of the U.S. Wayfair ruling Prop Store is obligated to collect sales tax on orders shipped to a number of States within the U.S., even when auctioning from London. Additional States become sales tax-eligible regularly due to ongoing updates. Please review the online terms for the current list of States Prop Store charges sales tax to; final taxes will be added to your invoice upon checkout.

8. Use of information

- 8.1. Prop Store will hold all personal information provided by the Bidder at registration and the Bidder agrees and consents to such information being used by Prop Store to:
  - 8.1.1. make available each Lot for shipping to the Buver:
  - 8.1.2. process the Buyer's payment and use the registered email address to update the buyer about their order, including but not limited to sending reminders relating to any outstanding payment;
  - 8.1.3. contact credit reference agencies and keep records of any searches carried out on Prop Store's behalf;
  - 8.1.4. where explicit consent has been given, inform the Bidder about upcoming auctions and news (please contact Prop Store by email at support@propstore.com or by phone +44 (0)1494 766485 if you wish to stop receiving these);
  - 8.1.5. inform the Bidder about important auction updates; this personal information including email addresses will be deleted from the auction mailing list once the auction is complete
  - 8.1.6. in the event of non-payment, we can, at our option, reveal your identity and contact details to the seller

9. Liability

- 9.1. If Prop Store fails to comply with these Conditions it is responsible for loss or damage a Buyer suffers that is a foreseeable result of Prop Store's breach or its negligence. Prop Store is not responsible for any loss or damage that is not foreseeable. Loss or damage is foreseeable if an obvious consequence of Prop Store's breach or if contemplated by the Buyer and Prop Store at the time the hammer falls on the Lot at the Auction.
- 9.2. Subject to condition 9.3, Prop Store's liability shall be limited to the amount actually paid for the Lot by the Buyer. Save to the extent required by law, in no event shall Prop Store be liable for incidental or consequential damages of any kind.
- 9.3. Prop Store does not exclude or limit its liability for:
  - 9.3.1. death or personal liability caused by its negligence or the negligence of its employees, agents or subcontractors;
  - 9.3.2. fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation; and
  - 9.3.3. breach of the terms implied by sections 12, 13, 14 and 15 of the Sale of Goods Act 1979 (title, description, quality and fitness for purpose) save to the fullest extent permissible at law.

Terms & Conditions

10. Terms of Guarantee of Attribution

- by Prop Store on that description.
- Prop Store and the Buyer.

- Auction.
- conditions are excluded to the fullest extent permitted by law

11. Intellectual property rights

12. Events outside our control

Prop Store will not be liable or responsible for any failure to perform, or delay in performance of, any of its obligations under these Conditions that is caused by an event outside its control, that being any act or event beyond Prop Store's reasonable control, including without limitation strikes, lock-outs or other industrial action by third parties, civil commotion, riot, invasion, terrorist attack or threat of terrorist attack, war (whether declared or not) or threat or preparation for war, fire, explosion, storm, flood, earthquake, subsidence, epidemic or other natural disaster, or failure of public or private telecommunications networks. Prop Store's obligations shall be suspended and time for performance extended until such time as the event outside it's control is over, following which a new collection or shipping date can be agreed.

13. Other important terms

- continue to be valid to the fullest extent permitted by law.

- validity of the card.
- alleged breach of any such representation or warranty.

10.1. Prop Store warrants the attribution of each Lot as stated in the title block (film title and item title) of that Lot in the Auction catalogue, subject to any revisions (which may be given in writing or online before or during the Auction at which the Lot is purchased by the Buyer); this is Prop Store's Guarantee of Attribution. Buyers should be aware that multiple examples of props and costumes are frequently used during production and it is often impossible to determine whether a specific piece has been used on-camera. Any specific on-camera usage known to Prop Store will be noted within the description, but no warranties are given

10.2. If a Buyer demonstrates, to Prop Store's reasonable satisfaction, that the Guarantee of Attribution is materially incorrect, the sale will be rescinded if the Lot is returned to Prop Store in the same condition in which it was at the time of sale. In order to satisfy Prop Store that the Guarantee of Attribution is materially incorrect, Prop Store reserves the right to require the Buyer to obtain, at the Buyer's expense, the opinion of two experts in the field, mutually acceptable to

10.3. In the event a sale is rescinded in accordance with condition 10.2, Prop Store shall repay to the Buyer the Purchase Price. Repayment of the Purchase Price shall be the Buver's sole remedy for an incorrect Guarantee of Attribution, to the exclusion of all other remedies to the extent permissible at law. It is specifically understood that this will be considered the Buyer's sole remedy under this clause 10.

10.4. The Buyer expressly agrees that Prop Store shall not be liable in whole or in part, for, and the Buyer shall not be entitled to recover, any special, indirect, incidental or consequential damages including loss of profits or value of investment or opportunity cost

10.5. Bidders are aware that description revisions may occur on some Lots, and should inquire before the Auction whether any description revisions have occurred on a given Lot and/or examine a lot before bidding on it. Prop Store will make all reasonable efforts to make description revisions readily available during the

10.6. Except as expressly provided in these Conditions Prop Store shall have no liability to the Buyer in respect of a Lot and all and any implied warranties and

11.1. The copyright in all images, illustrations and written material produced by or for Prop Store relating to a Lot (including the contents of the Auction catalogue), is and shall remain at all times the property of Prop Store and shall not be used by the Buyer, nor by anyone else, without Prop Store's written consent. Prop Store and the Seller make no representation or warranty that the Buyer of a Lot will acquire any copyright or other reproduction rights in it.

11.2. In the catalogue descriptions, Prop Store takes steps to identify and provide provenance for Lots offered at auction. In many cases, the Lots offered were used in or in conjunction with motion pictures or other programmes and information is furnished in order to fully identify and describe the Lot offered at Auction, including photographs and illustrations. Prop Store in no way claims any connection to or relationship with the producers of the motion picture or other programme. In all cases, the use of the titles or other elements of a motion picture or other programme is for informational purposes only.

13.1. If any part of these Conditions is found by any court to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, that part shall be discounted and the rest of the Conditions shall 13.2. The contract is between the Seller, Buyer and Prop Store and no other person shall have any rights to enforce any of its terms.

13.3. If Prop Store fails to insist on performance of any of a Buyer's obligations under these Conditions, or if it delays in doing so, that will not mean that Prop Store has waived its rights against the Buyer and does not mean the Buyer no longer has to comply with those obligations.

13.4. These Conditions are governed by English law, without regard to its choice of law provisions. The Parties agree that any dispute or claim (including noncontractual disputes or claims) arising out of or in connection with this agreement or its subject matter or formation may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction located in England or Wales or, alternatively, in any court of competent jurisdiction where Prop Store or the Bidder/Buyer resides, at the option of the Party bringing the claim, only. The Parties expressly agree to the jurisdiction of such courts and agree to submit to the jurisdiction of such courts. The prevailing party shall be entitled to an award of all Lawyers' fees, costs and expenses incurred by it/him/her in connection with the dispute. "Lawyers' fees and expenses" includes, without limitation, paralegals' fees and expenses, solicitor's fees consultants' fees and expenses, expert witness' fees and expenses, and all other expenses incurred by the prevailing party or its attorneys in the course of their representation of the prevailing party in anticipation of and/or during the course of the litigation, whether or not otherwise recoverable as "attorneys' fees" or as "costs" under applicable law; and the same may be sought and awarded in accordance with applicable procedure as pertaining to an award of contractual Lawyers' fees.

13.5. By registering for this auction, the supplied card will automatically have a sum of £0.01 held and subsequently returned within 30 working days to verify the

13.6. The buyer is solely responsible for ascertaining that each lot sold with copyright is otherwise cleared for publication including but not limited to satisfying any publicity right that persons appearing in an image may have under any statute or common law. Neither the consignor nor Prop Store Ltd makes any representation or warranty as to any matters that need to be cleared prior to publication. No representation or warranty is made regarding copyright outside of the United Kingdom. All publication issues should be referred to the buyer's own professional advisors. All representations or warranties as to copyright or rights to publish are solely made by the consignor and not Prop Store Ltd; the buyer agrees that Prop Store Ltd. will not be liable to Buyer in any respect for
