Jon Snow's (Kit Harington) Hero Longclaw †
Game Of Thrones (T.V. Series, 2011 - 2019)

Jon Snow's (Kit Harington) hero Longclaw from HBO's Emmy Award-winning fantasy series Game of Thrones. This 'bastard sword' was used by Harington as Jon Snow throughout all eight seasons of the show. Formerly a House Mormont family heirloom, Longclaw was gifted to Snow by Lord Commander Jeor Mormont (James Cosmo) in the Season 1 episode "Baelor", as thanks for saving his life. Forged from rare Valyrian steel, Longclaw later proved capable of killing White Walkers and became Snow's weapon of choice in the wars against both the living and the dead.

First introduced in George R. R. Martin's novel series A Song of Ice and Fire, Longclaw became one of the television adaptation's most recognisable weapons. While its pommel was originally shaped as the head of a bear, the sigil of House Mormont, the sword's pommel was redesigned after "Baelor" to feature a white direwolf's head, reflecting Snow's connection to his own direwolf, Ghost.

During its run, Game of Thrones won 59 Primetime Emmy Awards from 161 nominations, making it the most awarded drama series in Emmy history. Kit Harington was nominated for Outstanding Lead Actor in a Drama Series in 2016 (Season 6) and 2019 (Season 8).

The sword's blade is made of aluminium while the hilt is made of bronze. The white wolf's-head pommel is finished to resemble carved stone and inset with red Swarovski crystal eyes. The blade features a Damascus-like pattern replicating the distinctive appearance of Valyrian steel. It exhibits battle damage and wear from production use, including minor indentations along its edge. Dimensions: 105.5 cm x 19.75 cm x 6 cm (41.5" x 7.75" x 2.25")

Edged, bladed or blunt object; see notice on blades in the Terms and Conditions.

Estimate: £50,000 - 100,000
