Lot 1040

THE ANTHONY DANIELS COLLECTION

Anthony Daniels is an English theatre and film actor who is known globally as the man who brought to life the character of C-3PO, the galaxy's most memorable protocol droid.

Back in 1975, Daniels was initially reticent about meeting with writer-director George Lucas for a film entitled, The Star Wars, as he was not a fan of science-fiction and had actually walked out of a screening of Kubrick's 2001: A Space Odyssey. His agent persuaded him to take the meeting with Lucas in London, and the rest is history.

Daniels would go on to become the only actor to appear in all nine episodes of the Star Wars Saga, as well as in Rogue One and in Solo as a different character, Tak. Beyond the film work, he performed as C-3PO to promote Kellogg's C-3POs breakfast cereal, for appearances on The Muppets Show and Sesame Street, in immunisation and anti-smoking advertisements, and even at the Academy Award ceremony. Daniels has also voiced Threepio in all manner of video games, cartoons and animated series such as Droids, The Clone Wars and Lego -The Yoda Chronicles, over the last forty-six years.

Outside of Star Wars, Daniels has appeared in many theatre and television shows, and voiced Legolas in Ralph Bakshi's highly-regarded animated adaptation of The Lord of the Rings. He regularly hosts trade events and at Star Wars exhibitions and shows worldwide, including The Art of Star Wars, Where Science Meets Imagination, Star Wars in Concert, and more.

His memoir, I Am C-3PO - The Inside Story, was published in 2019 to critical acclaim. It is in print in five different languages around the world and in his self-narrated audio version, available on Audible.

Presented here are over 125 lots from Anthony Daniels' collection, spanning the length and breadth of his career. Each lot is accompanied by a certificate of authenticity co-signed by Daniels.

 Anthony Daniels Collection: Screen-Matched Light-up C-3PO (Anthony Daniels) Head
Star Wars: Return Of The Jedi (1983)

A screen-matched light-up C-3PO (Anthony Daniels) head from Richard Marquand's Star Wars: Return of the Jedi.

C-3PO voiced the first on-screen dialogue in A New Hope and is one of the only characters to appear in all 9 films of the Star Wars saga, making Threepio one of the most memorable robots in cinema history. In Return of the Jedi, Threepio's role grew to arguably his most prominent in the entire series, with him playing a key part in delivering a message on behalf of Luke Skywalker (Mark Hamill) to Jabba the Hutt; working for Jabba as a translator; joining the Rebel strike force to the Forest Moon of Endor; and being perceived as a God by the Ewoks and convincing them to join the Battle of Endor.

This head screen-matches to several of the scenes on Endor, including when Luke reunites with the group after the speeder bike chase and as the Rebels scout out and approach the shield reactor. It matches through distinct markings on the right side of C-3PO's outer perimeter ring. Daniels has also frequently posed with the head for publicity purposes.

This is the only complete C-3PO head from Return of the Jedi currently in a private collection and it is offered directly from Anthony Daniels.

Daniels, who played C-3PO within the costume as well as providing the voice, is the only actor to have featured in all Star Wars theatrical releases. C-3PO's enduring popularity is a testament to Daniels' fantastic performances. The golden robot was originally designed by legendary concept artist Ralph McQuarrie, and Daniels instantly fell in love with the character when he saw McQuarrie's concepts. The initial designs were based on Walter Schulze-Mittendorff's Maschinenmensch "Maria" robot from Fritz Lang's 1927 German expressionist sci-fi film Metropolis. After being cast as Threepio, Daniels went through a lengthy process of moulding his face, torso and limbs to create the costume. Several different versions of the head were sculpted by Liz Moore, and George Lucas chose the now-iconic design.

The costume head is made of very thin fibreglass to be as close-fitting and lightweight as possible, and it comprised of three major components: a backplate, faceplate (with installed eyes), and a neck-ring which are fixed together with two neck-bolts and the forehead antennae. It differs in its construction from the ones originally built for A New Hope, including the one which Propstore sold in its UK Entertainment Memorabilia Live Auction in November, 2023. Where the head from A New Hope features aluminum details that were machined and individually-installed at the back of the head and the mouth of the faceplate, these components are cast into the fiberglass on this head. The fittings that hold the two halves of the head together were also updated as the films progressed; the neck bolts and forehead antennae were threaded connectors on the Episode IV pieces, whereas this head features the more advanced quarter-turn versions.

The costume's illuminating "photoreceptor" eyes were designed in such a way as to keep them from blinding Daniels when illuminated; a black material was installed behind the lights to shield Daniels' eyes, leaving only small ports through which the performer could see. The eyes retain their original wiring, which is taped to the inside of the head, and they connect to a more recently installed battery pack and switch.

The interior of the backplate has "5" handwritten in black marker pen.

The whole head has been intentionally distressed and tarnished to give the character a very weathered look, worlds away from the clean, golden sheen which the character appeared with during the medal ceremony at the end of Episode IV.

The costume head's eyes illuminate when an internal switch is activated, and it is presented on a custom-made display stand.

Threepio stands as one of the most recognizable cinema designs of all time. This screen-matched C-3PO costume head, with direct provenance to the production, is one of the most significant artifacts from the original Star Wars film to come to market. Dimensions: 9.75" x 7.75" x 12.5" (25 cm x 20 cm x 32 cm)

Contains electronics; see electronics notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Special shipping required; see special shipping notice in the Buyer's Guide.

Estimate: $500,000 - 1,000,000

Chipping on the rim of the head and the right eye screen-matches to shots from the Forrest location.

Above: exterior and interior of the backplate.

A black material was installed behind the illuminated eye lights to shield Daniels' eyes, leaving only small ports through which the performer could see.

Multiple reference points of chipping, dulling paste residue, and stains match the head backplate, rim, and faceplate using screen-matched Endor forrest scenes.

A prominent unique chip on the lower right eye along with the right headrim chippings are consistent with several on screen film references.

The left side of the C-3PO helmet exhibits less chipping. However, upon close inspection of the dulling paste, subtle identifiers of brush strokes can be seen as unique. One distinct "Z" like marking is noted above.

The distressed and tarnished surface were meant to give C-3PO an intentional weathered look; vastly different from the clean, golden sheen character that appeared during the medal ceremony at the end of Episode IV.

An enlarged detail of the lower right eye chip that identifies this C-3PO head as the one used in many of the Endor scenes in Episode VI.

 Anthony Daniels Collection: Pair of C-3PO (Anthony Daniels) Hands
Star Wars:
The Empire Strikes Back (1980)/
Star Wars:
Return Of The Jedi (1983)

A pair of C-3PO (Anthony Daniels) hands from Irvin Kershner's Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back and Richard Marquand's Return of the Jedi. Daniels wore metallic gold-color hands as part of his distinctive C-3PO costume.

Based on concept artwork by Ralph McQuarrie and designed and created by sculptor Liz Moore, the C-3PO costume heavily evolved throughout the films. This process included the hands, which began, in Star Wars: A New Hope, as separate finger covers worn over black gloves, and were later upgraded to simpler, one-piece cast gloves for the sequels.

These rubber gloves were finished in a gold-color vacuum-metalized plating, and feature gold-color, -plated plastic and metal greeblies affixed to the knuckles and the finger joints. The palms are painted black with red, yellow, and white hand-painted wires running down the fingers to the wrists, where there is an intentional production-made split and a metal snap fastener closure. This allowed the hands to be easily applied and secured to Daniels' own. This pair of hands exhibits silvering and wearing away of the plating and paint around the fingers from production use and age. This is most notable on the left hand, which features cracking all over and a slightly sticky sheen. The lot comes presented on a custom black wooden display stand. Dimensions: 9.75" x 6" x 3" (24.5 cm x 15 cm x 7 cm)

Estimate: $30,000 - 60,000

365 Anthony Daniels Collection: Hand-annotated Partial Script with Handwritten Scene List Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back (1980)

A hand-annotated partial script and handwritten scene list from the production of Irvin Kershner's Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back.

This 97-page script is printed on yellow and white pages. The yellow pages are dated "2/20/79" and the white pages "2/28/79." Page 91 features "offer an opinion" handwritten in pencil by Daniels alongside some of Threepio's lines. Each page is stamped in red ink with a production code and the script is bound together with metal fasteners.

The script is accompanied by two pages of lined A5 paper which feature a handwritten list of page and scene numbers, with some additional pencil notations alongside. Dimensions: (script) 11" x 8.5" x 0.5" (28 cm x 22 cm x 1.5 cm)

Estimate: $5,000 - 10,000

364 Anthony Daniels Collection: Anthony Daniels' Personal Hand-annotated Fourth Draft Script Star Wars: A New Hope (1977)

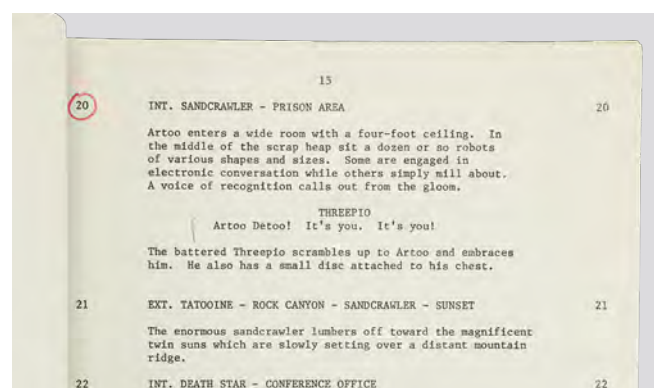

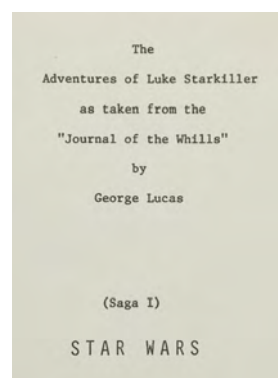

Anthony Daniels' personal hand-annotated fourth draft script from the production of George Lucas' Star Wars: A New Hope.

This 145-page, fourth draft script is credited to Lucas, is dated "January 1, 1976," and features Daniels' name stamped on the title page. The title page features the title "Star Wars" and a second title page features the longer title "The Adventures of Luke Starkiller as taken from the "Journal of the Whills." The Journal of the Whills was originally conceived by Lucas as a plot device, whereby an immortal being - a Whill - watched and recorded the events of the film.

Threepio's lines throughout the script are identified with pencil markings and some of the lines have locations noted next to them, e.g. "Location 9." A torn page from an unidentified script is slipped between pages 113 and 114.

The script is bound between yellow card covers, with the front cover featuring an original triangular "The Star Wars" sticker. The script exhibits some damage to the cover and title page. Dimensions: 11" x 8.5" x 0.75" (28 cm x 22 cm x 2 cm)

Estimate: $10,000 - 20,000

Production photo of Anthony Daniels with chairback

Estimate: $4,000 - 8,000

Anthony Daniels Collection:
Anthony Daniels' Hand-annotated
Partial Revised Fourth Draft Script
Star Wars: A New Hope (1977)

Anthony Daniels' hand-annotated partial revised fourth draft script from the production of George Lucas' Star Wars: A New Hope. This is credited to Lucas, dated "March 15, 1976," and is 44 pages long, plus a title page with the title "The Adventures of Luke Starkiller as taken from the Journal of the Whills." The Journal of the Whills was originally conceived by Lucas as a plot device, whereby an immortal being - a Whill - watched and recorded the events of the film. The title page and 29 other pages feature Daniels' handwritten annotations or Threepio's dialogue highlighted. The pages are loose and some exhibit minor tears and staining. Dimensions: 11" x 8.5" (28 cm x 21.5 cm)

Estimate: $2,000 - 4,000

368
Anthony Daniels Collection:
Anthony Daniels' Hand-annotated
and Highlighted Fourth Draft
Revision Script Pages
Star Wars: A New Hope (1977)

Anthony Daniels' hand-annotated and highlighted fourth draft revision script pages from the production of George Lucas' Star Wars: A New Hope. These loose pages feature a title page, pages 1-54 and 68-124 of the script. The title page and first sequence of pages are dated "March 15, 1976" or "3/15/76," and the second sequence of pages are dated "4/19/76." 20 pages feature handwritten annotations, including dialogue changes, and the final page has "R2D2 Are you all right?" handwritten on the back. Daniels highlighted his lines in the script and "Sound" is handwritten on the title page. Slipped in between the pages is a different sized page with some of Threepio's typed dialogue. Dimensions: 11" x 8.5" x 0.75" (28 cm x 22 cm x 1.5 cm)

Estimate: $2,000 - 4,000

369
Anthony Daniels Collection: Glory
Book Signed to Anthony Daniels
from George Lucas and Gary Kurtz
Star Wars: A New Hope (1977)

A cast-and-crew glory book from the production of George Lucas' Star Wars: A New Hope. This book is spiral-bound with a black card cover and contains 24 black-and-white stills. The back of the final still features a handwritten dedication which reads, "To Anthony Daniels, Thank you for all your help in the making of Star Wars." The message is hand-signed by George Lucas and producer Gary Kurtz. The front cover exhibits faint white scuff marks from handling, and the top spiral on the binding has snapped off. Dimensions: 8" x 10.25" x 0.5" (20.5 cm x 26 cm x 1.5 cm)

Estimate: $3,000 - 6,000

Anthony Daniels Collection: C-3PO (Anthony Daniels) Antenna
Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back (1980)

A C-3PO (Anthony Daniels) antenna from Irvin Kershner's Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back. C-3PO had an antenna on the top of his head, which for practical purposes kept the front and back of the head securely fastened together. The connector is predominantly made of aluminum, with a steel element which locked it into the top of the head and could be quickly released. It has a golden finish which has largely worn off in places. Dimensions: 3" x 0.75" x 0.75" (7.5 cm x 2 cm x 2 cm)

Estimate: $2,000 - 4,000

371
Anthony Daniels Collection:
Pair of C-3PO (Anthony Daniels) Neck Bolts
Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back (1980)

A pair of C-3PO (Anthony Daniels) neck bolts from Irvin Kershner's Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back. C-3PO had bolts on each side of his neck, which helped keep his head securely fastened. The metal bolts are predominantly made of aluminum, with a steel connector where each one was locked into the neck and could also be quickly released. They had a golden finish, which has worn away in places. Dimensions (each): 1.75" x 1.75" x 1.25" (4.5 cm x 4.5 cm x 3 cm)

Estimate: $2,000 - 4,000

372
Anthony Daniels Collection:
Pair of C-3PO's (Anthony Daniels) Torso Bolts
Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back (1980)/
Star Wars: Return Of The Jedi (1983)

A pair of C-3PO's (Anthony Daniels) torso bolts from Irvin Kershner's Star Wars: The Empire Strikes Back and Richard Marquand's Star Wars: Return of the Jedi. The loyal droid's torso and back plates were fastened together with distinctive quarter-turn crosshead bolts in both films.

The bolts are made of predominantly of aluminum with steel connectors for locking into the plates. They originally had a golden finish which has worn away or discolored in places. Dimensions (each): 0.75" x 0.75" x 0.75" (2 cm x 2 cm x 2 cm)

Estimate: $1,500 - 3,000

 Anthony Daniels Collection:
 C-3PO Spare Undersuit Patches and Gloves
Star Wars: Return Of The Jedi (1983)

Two spare C-3PO undersuit patches and a pair of gloves from Richard Marquand's Star Wars: Return of the Jedi. Anthony Daniels wore black undersuits beneath his iconic golden exterior and would change these at least twice a day. The black gloves are mismatched, with one made of brushed polycotton and the other an elasticated black material. The square patches of black elasticated material each feature printed "wires". The patches exhibit some loose threading around the edges where they have been cut. Dimensions: (patches) 7" x 7.25" (17.5 cm x 18 cm)

Estimate: $1,000 - 2,000

 Anthony Daniels Collection: C-3PO Printed Undersuit
Star Wars: Return Of The Jedi (1983)

Estimate: $5,000 - 10,000

375
 Anthony Daniels Collection: Millennium Falcon Parts
Star Wars: Return Of The Jedi (1983)

Assorted Millennium Falcon parts from Richard Marquand's Star Wars: Return of the Jedi. Upon completion of filming, the frame of the Millennium Falcon was scrapped, as it would have been too expensive to store. Moved by the destruction of this beloved craft, which he described in his memoir as "part of the family," Anthony Daniels rescued a collection of parts waiting to be burned. A vast majority of these were originally scraps taken from old telephone exchange's and Ford motor engines.

This lot includes a plastic grill panel painted light grey; a plastic tube full of multicolored wiring; and a gold-color metal plaque featuring an engraved Anthony Daniels autograph which states that he recovered these items from the studio. The lot exhibits scratches, paint wear and staining caused by the fire. Dimensions: (grill) 7" x 4.5" x 1.5" (18 cm x 11 cm x 4 cm)

Estimate: $1,500 - 3,000

“George and I talked.

An hour passed. Surely we both had things to do. There was a silence.

Nervously. ‘Please, may I play the part?’

George paused. Then quietly, ‘Shurr.’

Not even a word. Hardly a syllable. A sound.
A small sound above the London traffic.

It changed my life.
